Halt Try To Seat Chinese

Soviet Bloc Attempts Again To Have Red Regime In China Recognized by UN

PARIS, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The United Nations general assembly slumped down a new Soviet bloc attempt to seat Red China and oust the Nationalists.

Meeting in plenary session, the 60-nation group also:

Urged Italy's Admission

1. Urged the security council, by vote of 54 to 5, to approve Italy's application for UN membership. It was considered unlikely the move would lead to Italy's admission. Russia has vetoed Italy three times in the security council and cast a negative vote today, forecasting a fourth veto. Italy now participates in the work of the UN trusteeship council, without a vote, in the administration of the territory of Somaliland, but not in other UN functions.

2. Decided to disband its special on-the-spot commission (UN-SCOB) which has been keeping an eye on the explosive Balkan situation and give the job to a stand-by group which will sit in UN headquarters in New York.

Beat China Move 39 to 7

The vote on the Chinese issue came on a 10-minute vote. The Russian resolution, denouncing a report from the UN credentials committee declaring the Nationalists represented China legally in the United Nations. The Soviet move was defeated 39 to 7 with four abstentions.

Meanwhile the Big Four were preparing their final disarmament proposals for outline at a secret meeting they have scheduled for late today.

There was little optimism that Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinskiy, U. S. ambassador Philip C. Jessup, British minister of state Selwyn Lloyd and French delegate Jules Moch would come to any agreement. The general expectation was that they would report next Monday that they have been unable to compromise rival disarmament plans.

Firemen Request No Grass Fires on Windy Days; Give Precaution

Sedaliaans are being requested by the fire department to refrain from burning trash and dry grass during the windy days. Due to the wind, the grass fires spread quickly and become out of control making it necessary for the fire companies to make a run and extinguish the blaze.

When burning grass or trash, property owners are also requested to rake away from near by buildings such grass or trash which might catch fire and in turn set fire to the buildings.

B-29 Long Overdue Flying From Azores

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Dec. 7.—(AP)—An American B-29 with 18 aboard is overdue here on a flight from the Azores and a search for the Superfortress is under way, U. S. Air Force officials said today.

The plane left Lages Air Force base in the Azores at 11:25 p.m. Thursday and was due at Kindley field, the U. S. Air Force installation, at 10 a.m.

There has been no radio contact with the plane, which carried enough fuel to last 15 hours. Two planes took off from here to search for the missing aircraft. Three are standing by to assist if needed.

100 Acres Burned North of Lebanon

LEBANON, Mo., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Fire fanned by winds of 50 miles an hour, yesterday burned over a hundred acres of grass and timber land two miles north of here.

At times the flames whipped within inches of farm buildings, but none was destroyed. James Mills of the Leakey county conservation federation said 20 acres were burned off in only three minutes.

The fire was brought under control by members of the federation, state highway patrolmen, sheriff's officers and volunteers.

Captured Jap Book Credits Midget Subs As Raid Heroes

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A captured Japanese book, distributed privately in March, 1942, to high Jap officials and publishers, credits five midget submarines with much of the Pearl Harbor destruction.

Most American accounts of the disaster list the subs' role as minor compared with that of the attacking Jap air raiders.

Nine officers—all under 30—manned the five subs. Thus one is presumed to have had a single occupant. They are revered as "hero-kods" in the book, much of which quotes:

Remember Pearl Harbor? The book leaves two questions unanswered—how big the subs were and whether each carried more than one torpedo.

Also there is no explanation of why it was printed in English, since its circulation was limited and it apparently was never used for propaganda purposes.

Found In Burning Books

The book is owned by Roland A. Martone of South Pasadena, a law student at Southwestern university in Los Angeles, who was among the first American troops to land in Japan in the late summer of 1945.

Infantry Sgt. Martone noticed a well-dressed Japanese burning books behind the Nippon Times building in Tokyo. Still carrying his M-1 rifle, Martone seized his copy, which is excellently bound and printed, from the Jap and later from other officials while reporting the war crimes trials for Stars and Stripes.

He believes only two or three copies still exist. The burning of such books, especially those printed in English, was common in Japan in the last days of the war.

Martone mailed it home with other souvenirs and forgot about it until now—the tenth anniversary of Pearl Harbor.

Tells of Midget Raids

Hirade reconstructed the midget sub raid in these words:

"The enemy had naturally taken elaborate precautionary measures to guard Pearl Harbor from hostile attacks. An anti-submarine network was spread across the entrance of the harbor, while numerous mines were planted.

"The members of the special attack flotilla, however, thanks to their long training, steered their craft past all these barriers with consummate skill and without mishap. x x x

"Some of the submarines came close to the big battleships and delivered telling surprise attacks, while others discharged their torpedoes at other capital ships, tearing large rents in their sides. x x x

"Just when they were about to renew their attacks, one enemy destroyer, which had presumably espied the periscopes of the Japanese submarines, came rushing to attack them. Without waiting to ascertain the results of their initial attacks, therefore, some submarines submerged."

His buddy, who also stared at the radar screen that tragic Sunday morning and figured something was up, now is working in a telephone office. He thinks the U. S. would be "more alert" to any sneak attack today.

And the lieutenant who received their report of approaching planes? He's commanding the 81st Airbase group in England these days. He still says he was surprised that the planes turned out to be enemy bombers on a sleepy morning 10 years ago today.

One Still In Service

That's the 10-years-after story of Pvt. Joseph L. Lockard, who later became a first lieutenant of Pvt. George E. Elliott, later a sergeant, and of Lt. Kermit A. Tyler, now a lieutenant colonel. Lockard and Elliott got out of the service long ago. Tyler stayed in.

"Ten years ago as a first lieutenant," Tyler told a reporter at Bentwaters, Suffolk, Eng., "I was watch officer in the fighter operations room at Wheeler field (Hawaii).

"As the clock neared seven, the night staff moved off and I was left with only a telephone operator. The phone rang. The radar tower reported planes on the screen.

Tyler Was 'Surprised'

"We were expecting some B-17s in but not from that direction, so I was surprised and told radar to keep watching."

Tyler is 38 now. He's getting everything ready for his wife, Marian, of Palo Alto, Calif., and their two children to join him by Christmas. Says he likes England and expects the kids will, too.

Lockard, 30, who phoned the first message to Tyler on Pearl Harbor day, is an assistant track supervisor for the Pennsylvania railroad in Philadelphia.

Like Tyler, he's married and has a son and a daughter. He does not care much for talking about the old days—especially Pearl Harbor day.

Memories Not Happy

"My memories of Pearl Harbor are not happy," he says.

Lockard's recollection differs somewhat from Tyler's. He has said previously that the lieutenant when informed of the approaching aircraft, told him to "forget it."

Elliott, 33, is married and has one son. He does clerical work for the New Jersey Bell Telephone company at Asbury Park, N. J., and lives in nearby Long Branch.

Just Plain Bewildered

Thinking back to Dec. 7, 1941, and the "large flight of planes" that showed up on the radar screen Elliott says he was just plain bewildered—"It didn't seem possible."

"I think the United States would be more alert now. I hope we're not falling down on the job," he added.

Does he look for anything like another Pearl Harbor in the future?

"Looks like things are repeating themselves, so to speak," said Pvt. George Elliott, 10 years after.

Osage Beach Resort Operator Arraigned

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Virgil E. Hamlin, a resort operator at Osage Beach, Mo., was arraigned today on a federal complaint charging embezzlement of funds and goods from a Fort Leonard Wood branch post exchange.

He waived preliminary hearings before the U. S. commissioner, who set bond at $5,000.

Killed at Marshall

MARSHALL, Mo., Dec. 7.—(AP)—James Helman, 27, was killed yesterday in a fall at a milling firm here.

He fell 19 feet from a scaffolding and had mounted to clear a chucked seed conveyor pipe.

Solons Prove Generous

Many Salary Hikes Granted This Year, Other Increases Have Been Considered

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The Missouri legislature has done a pretty thorough job of raising salaries of public employees this year.

In fact you have to go a long way to find an office that hasn't been at least mentioned for a hike in some legislative measure.

To date about 40 salary-raising bills have been passed, another 30 are stalled somewhere in the legislative process and seven have been killed outright. Ten never came out of committees and three more are waiting for the governor's signature.

Weren't Getting Enough

Some of the salary raising measures said plainly that the public job holder wasn't getting enough money. Others found some excuse to raise the pay by putting some small extra duties on the job.

But sponsors of these bills admitted on the legislative floor that the object was to raise the pay.

The latest bill introduced would give third and fourth class county prosecutors a 25 per cent boost.

But to "raise the hike they would have to attend judicial parole hearings and make reports on the applicant's fitness for parole."

Why is the legislature getting so generous?

Blame On Inflation

Sen. William M. Quinn (D) of Maywood, president pro tem of the Senate, said the assembly is increasing salaries "where the raise is justified." He blamed inflation for the sudden generosity.

"A living wage now isn't what it was a few years back," Quinn said. "We're just adjusting salaries to meet economic demands."

In most of the cases, the legislative hikes have put the burden of paying the extra money on the shoulders of counties and cities.

Quinn said he hasn't had much protest from the local government.

'Raises Are Justified'

"They know as well as we do that the raises are justified," he said.

But Rep. W. D. Cruise (R) of Cedar county, House minority floor leader, took a different view.

"The Democratic controlled legislature," he said, "is following the theory inaugurated by the New Deal—spend, spend, spend—tax, tax, tax."

He said that while Gov. Forrest Smith is advocating a tax cut for state income taxpayers, the legislature is piling on additional taxes.

He cited bills pending to increase the gasoline tax, increase truck license fees, and others.

The increased fees are part of the administration's proposed $55,000,000 highway improvement program.

Fail To Jump Own Pay

While they are being so generous to everyone else, the legislators tried to give themselves a hike, too. A proposed constitutional amendment to increase salaries of members of the general assembly from $125 to $300 a month got through the Senate but was nipped in the House.

So some of the legislators are trying again. This time they want to give themselves $10 a day expenses. The new resolution is tied up in the Senate.

$5,735,232 to Aged

JEFFERSON CITY, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Missouri paid 132,398 old folks $5,735,232 in old age assistance last month, welfare director Proctor N. Earle reported today.

The average grant was $43.32, a two-cent increase over September, when there were 186 fewer persons on the rolls.

Dying Girl Goes To See Her Hero Before She Dies

NEW YORK, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A sick little girl doctors say may not live beyond the new year excitedly left for Los Angeles today to meet her hero, Mario Lanza, the tenor.

I hope I will think of something to say to him," Raphaela Fasack, 10, said as she boarded a TransWorld Airlines plane at LaGuardia field.

"I have three pairs of rosaries with me and I'm going to give one to him and the others to his children."

Raphaela, afflicted with Hodgkin's disease, lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Fasack, at Newark, N. J. She was stricken four years ago with the disease of the lymphatic glands and spleen.

She saw Lanza in a motion picture and expressed a wish to see him.

When the tenor heard of it, he sang and chatted with her a week ago during an 11-minute telephone call to her home. Two New York City businessmen, who asked to remain anonymous, financed a five-day trip for Raphaela and her mother to California to meet the star.

The little girl was so full of life today that her parents were hopeful, despite physicians' discouraging reports.

"I think the trip is doing her a world of good," the father said. "She has inspired 100 per cent since we began to make arrangements for it. I don't know what the doctors can do for her, but we have plenty of hope."

"I just know she is going to be cured, she seems so full of life again," the mother said.

Will Post Card Survive Its 2-Cent Price Tag?

Postmaster Bohling Says It Will; Means Revenue Here Up $6,000

Will the post card survive its new price tag of two cents? At least Postmaster Bohling of the Sedalia post office, says definitely it will.

Now, will the consumers of the post card such as utilities, public and private business, and the average person continue their practice of using the cards as a means of advertising, issuing statements and for short personal messages?

As for business, the answer for all indications is "yes." But for personal messages some people think that business will slack off because a first class letter that is enclosed will only cost one cent more.

The post-buying of post cards for personal use shouldn't hurt, though. As Bohling pointed out, only a few people use the post card for personal purposes. In fact, only five per cent. Some 95 per cent of the post cards used are for business purposes, such as advertising and issuing statements.

Card Is Expensive Item

The post card has been one of the Postal department's most expensive items—and one of its largest headaches. It is one thing that put that government agency in the red over $6,000,000 this past year. For the government, the post card has been as much a trouble to handle as a three cent letter—so, besides getting free stationery, people using the post card received extra service charge. It has been estimated that a post card that cost one cent in the past cost the government an estimated two cents by the time of processing, selling, and delivery.

Thus, the penny card served as a very cheap medium for business and personal communication since it was sold at that nominal cost. The government feels that purchasers should be willing to shoulder their portion of the extra cost, or at least some of it, as provided in the new selling price, which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1952.

With the doubled rate, the post card can still be considered an inexpensive means of business communication.

In the new postal prices, there is a clause aimed at bigger business or larger users. Up to 49 post cards for personal use, the cost is two cents each and over an additional ten per cent will be charged. The exact manner in which this will be handled has not been completely worked out, according to Bohling.

As in the past, double post cards will be sold, costing four cents instead of the two in the past. This added convenience for advertisers who make offers through the mail and provide for the receiver to make a reply at the cost of the advertiser.

600,000 Sold Here Yearly

Over the past year the post office has averaged a sale of 50,000 cards per month, or 600,000 each year. In other words, if the sale of post cards in Sedalia remains about the same, the government will receive over $12,000 next year instead of the average $6,000 in the past year. The reason it will be more than double is the added 10 per cent cost after the purchase of 49 cards.

With prices highest in history most people think little about the increase. General comment is "What's another penny?" or "If the postal department is in the red and the post card is an item putting it there, it should increase the price."

In Sedalia the two largest post-card users, the Missouri Public Service Co. and the Sedalia Water company, still plan to use the post card as a medium of issuing bills.

An unnamed official of the Missouri Public Service said that the purpose of making out statements, the size of the postcard and it would be considerable cost to change that operation.

I. H. Reed, manager of the Sedalia Water company, said the firm would continue to render statements via the post card, but that they were in the process of checking to see what would be the least expensive means for them to issue the statements.

Hint Only Half U. S. Missing Are Prisoners

MUNSAN, Korea, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A Communist correspondent hinted today that no more than half of the 10,000 Americans reported missing in Korea are prisoners of war.

The report came from a Chinese newspaper at Panmunjom, where Allied truce negotiators today opened a major effort to reach agreement on a compromise program for policing an armistice.

Allies Drop Demand

The Allies dropped their demand for joint U. N.-Communist inspection teams. They also told the Reds the question of withdrawing troops from Korea could be "brought up and discussed later." But they said from withdrawing early in the armistice definitely is out.

Chu Chi-Ping, a Communist correspondent covering the armistice negotiations, told Allied newsmen he knew of no war in which more than half of the soldiers listed as missing were prisoners.

"I do not see why the Korean war would be different from other wars in this respect," he said.

Others' Bodies Not Found

Chu referred to the fact that only part of those reported missing in action are taken prisoners. The others are killed in action and their bodies not recovered.

Allied correspondents did not construe his statement as confirming the matter after a confirmation of the recent report by Col. James M. Hanley, chief of the U. S. Eighth army's judge advocate's section, that the Reds had slaughtered approximately 5,500 American prisoners.

Other Red correspondents at Panmunjom said all Allied prisoners are being held in big camps in Korea near the Manchurian border. He said none have been taken to China.

See Truce Enforcement

Allied truce negotiators launched their effort to obtain agreement on a program for enforcing the truce by rewriting the Communist plan to include U. N. demands.

The two-man subcommittees reached general agreement on three points, left three for further discussion, and were sharply divided on two when the four-hour session ended.

The subdelegates will meet again Saturday at 11 a. m. (8 p. m. CST Friday).

Before Friday's meeting broke up, U. N. delegates told the Reds they were "receptive to any ideas the Communists might have for breaking the deadlock."

When the Reds raised their favorite subject—withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea—Major Gen. Henry I. Hodes said the U. N. command was willing to discuss the matter after agreement is reached on policing the armistice and exchanging prisoners of war.

Taft Believes He Can Beat Either Cens. Ike or Mae

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Robert A. Taft feels he can beat Dwight D. Eisenhower if the general makes a bid for the presidential nomination.

He said so last night when reporters interviewed him after his arrival in St. Louis for three speeches today.

"Do you think you can beat General Eisenhower if he runs?" Taft was asked.

"Oh, yes, I was very confident of that from the beginning," he replied with a shrug.

The Ohio Republican thinks he can also win over Gov. Earl Warren of California who like Taft has announced his candidacy for the GOP nomination.

Jet Bomber Safely Down In Emergency

OKLAHOMA CITY, Dec. 7.—(AP)—An B-45 four-engine jet reconnaissance bomber made an emergency landing one mile north of Stroud, Okla., early today, but none of the three-man crew was injured, although the nose gear buckled, according to Tinker Air Force base here.

The plane was on an operational flight from Los Angeles to Barksdale field, Louisiana.

16 Spilled From Home As Wall Falls

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 7.—(AP)—A wall of a two-story brick residence collapsed early today, spilling six persons and furniture into the yard. All 16 members of the four Negro families residing in the house escaped injury.

Air Force Plane Missing

Believed Down In Mountainous Terrain At French Riviera; Ten Men Aboard

MARSEILLE, France, Dec. 7.—(AP)—A U. S. Air Force cargo plane with 10 persons aboard disappeared last night after radioing in only 40 miles—16 minutes—from its destination—Marseille.

The plane, a twin-engine C-47, was believed down in the mountainous terrain along the French Riviera, east of here, or perhaps in the Mediterranean. It was coming from the U. S. air field at Tripoli.

A C-47 normally carries a crew of four, and the other six aboard were presumed to be passengers. The plane was attached to the U. S. Third Air Force Base at Bentwaters Field, England.

The French army sent ground patrols fanning into the mountains while search planes, hampered by fog and limited visibility, took to the air. The search force included French aircraft from Paris and Marseille and U. S. Air Force planes from Germany.

Ships from both the French and U. S. navies also steamed into the area to comb the Mediterranean waters. Italian naval and air-plane rescue centers also were alerted both in Italy and Sardinia to stand by to help if needed.

Air Force officials said they did not know how many persons were aboard the missing aircraft but assumed it carried only a crew—normally four men.

Air Force authorities said the plane last reported by radio at 7:41 p. m. (141 p. m. EST) yesterday. It was due to land at Marseilles field near Marseille 16 minutes later.

Only 40 Miles From Port

Airport officials said the plane was only 40 miles away, flying at 3,600 feet, when it gave its last position.

The plane took off at 2:47 p. m. (8:47 a. m. EST) from its base at Wheelus field in Tripoli.

Two other U. S. air force transports have been downed in Europe in the past month.

A C-47 bound from Erding, Germany, to Belgrade was forced down in Hungary on Nov. 19 by Soviet fighter planes. The plane and its four crewmen still are held by the Hungarians.

A C-47 (lying Boxcar) crashed and burned in the mountains of southern France on Nov. 13. All 36 servicemen aboard were killed.

MoPac Authorized To Make Back Interest Payments

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad was authorized to make back interest payments totaling $35,088,575 on its bonds yesterday.

A quick reaction was noted on the New York corporation bond market where several of MoPac's 5 per cent issues gained fractions to more than a point.

Authority was granted by Federal Judge George H. Moore to Guy A. Thompson, the railroad's trustee in bankruptcy, Thompson had requested the action, saying it was justified by the line's earnings.

Payment of $33,478,676 was authorized on MoPac first and refunding mortgage bonds, including series A, F, G, H, and I, in installments every six months for 1943-46.

Evacuate 12,000 From Volcano Isle

MANILA, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Philippine naval patrol vessels today began evacuating 12,000 refugees from Camiguin island and the fury of Hibok Hibok's erupting volcano.

The known dead from Tuesday's eruption rose to 266. Official estimates say another 500 are buried under lava and ashes.

The volcano blew a continuous rain of hot ashes over the northern end of the island, sending more frightened residents fleeing to the southeastern coast.

Teddy Gardner, 5, Bitten By a Dog

Teddy Gardner, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Gardner, 710 East Fifth, was bitten by a dog, according to a report given the police Friday afternoon. The father, who made the report, stated the dog is owned by Paul Adams, 720 East 15th.

The dog was tied beside the residence of the Adams family, and the little fellow, playing with other children, came too close to the dog.

John Neitzek, poundmaster, requests dog owners whose dogs have a tendency to snap at or bite people keep them tied up. Especially keep them tied up far enough away from sidewalks that they cannot reach passing persons, he said.

'Trivial Waste' Found at Six Bases of AAF

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Senate armed services subcommittee on preparedness reported today it had found many instances of "trivial waste" at six air force bases.

"To tolerate these minor wastes is to sanction inevitable large-scale waste," the group's 34th report declared. "The days of luxury are over for our military establishment."

The subcommittee was set up soon after Korean war broke out, to check on the nation's mobilization program.

Chairman Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) said subcommittee investigators had found "what appeared to be other more glaring instances of waste" at the bases than those covered in the report. But he added that further investigation of these is required before making a public report on them.

The six bases are Langley near Norfolk, Va.; Carswell near Fort Worth, Tex.; Lowry near Denver, Colo.; Mather near Sacramento, Calif.; March near Riverside, Calif.; and Keeler near Biloxi, Miss.

The report, the group's first devoted to a survey of a number of air force bases, listed these as samples of waste:

Overstocking food at some of the bases.

Substitution of "elaborate . . . costly" dining hall furniture for serviceable equipment.

Requests for a lighted baseball diamond, a golf course and other "lavish recreational facilities" at Mather.

Use of many able-bodied men in "chair corps" assignments which limited service personnel or WAF's (enlisted women) could fill.

Improper assignment of expensively-trained pilots.

The subcommittee called construction of "hotel type" dormitories "most unusual" at a time when, it said, economies are in order.

The subcommittee expressed great concern about training costs and production and procurement difficulties which it said were hampering training.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Dec. 7—(AP)—Rolland Schriber, a local business man, will be among those who make a boy's wish come true this Sunday.

Vernie Smith, 2, Woodward, Okla., will celebrate an early Christmas this year. He is to lose his remaining eye soon because of cancer. The other eye was removed last February.

Vernie has had his heart set on a "toy jeep that will wind up and run."

Gifts have started to pour in on the boy and among them will be one from Schriber. What is it? "A toy jeep that will wind up and run," of course.

Wants Medics To Drop Feud With Osteopaths

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7—(AP)—Doctors were told yesterday to drop their feud with Missouri osteopaths and band together in the common cause of healing.

The advice came from Dean Melvin A. Casberg of the St. Louis University medical school, in a speech before the Missouri Hospital association.

Dr. Casberg touched off the subject in discussing a proposal to improve hospital standards by "throwing out the quacks." Many doctors consider osteopaths "quacks," he said, but the belief is not shared by the public.

Osteopathic training, he continued, is no longer merely "bone manipulation" and research grants are going to some osteopathic hospitals.

Dr. Casberg did not outline a procedure which might unite the two groups.

Nation Must Share Responsibility For Politico Graft

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—The entire nation must share responsibility for an atmosphere which allows political graft and corruption to flourish, William H. Ruffin, outgoing president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said today.

In a speech prepared for delivery at the windup session of the NAM's 56th Congress of Industry, Ruffin said:

"It is not enough to stand aghast at revelations of mink coats on government secretaries. It is not enough to recoil at exposures of internal revenue scandals and corruption in RFC loans, to be revolted by nationwide crime syndicates protected by prominent politicians, or shocked by basketball bribery.

"If we are true to our American selves, we will look behind the sensational headlines and see how far we have fallen."

The Durham, N. C., textile manufacturer thus re-stated the dominant theme of the three-day NAM conclave which brought 3,000 industrialists and businessmen to the Waldorf-Astoria here.

Capital Sets Its Defense For Bombings

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7 — (AP) — The nation's capital, a high priority target for any enemy's bombing list, today begins testing its ability to cope with atomic attack.

Unlike such other big cities as New York, the Washington emphasis so far has been heavy on military effort to keep enemy bombers away, lighter on the civilian defense phase.

Today, defense organizations planned to start a two-day test of the command and communication machinery which would direct aerial and ground protection of Washington. It was entirely a "paper" exercise, with no planes or troops involved.

The military district of Washington announced the exercise was based on a "theoretical atomic and high explosive bombing of Washington." Involved in the command post exercise is the military district of Washington, the air force, the Potomac river command of the navy, the national guard, coast guard, Civil Aeronautics Administration and civil defense organizations of Washington, Maryland and Virginia.

The primary defenses of the capital include a wing of air force

Niederwimmer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lenger and children, Janice and Earl, Wilbur Stegner and Mr. Downing.

Oliphant Fails To Show Up To Testify

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(P)—Charles Oliphant, after demanding an immediate public hearing by House tax investigators, failed to appear today at a committee session called to hear him. He sent word he wished to delay his appearance "several days."

Oliphant, 42, resigned two days ago as chief of Internal Revenue. He said then he felt unable to endure any longer the "vilification" to which he had been subjected at hearings by a House ways and means subcommittee. The group is looking into charge of irregularities in the tax collecting service.

Oliphant blasted particularly at the "scurrilous charges" linking his name to an alleged "clique" of Washington officials which a witness had sworn he was told was on the look out for "soft touches."

This story came from Abraham Teitelbaum, Chicago attorney, who said two men tried to shake him down for $500,000 on the representation that they would save him from "tax troubles" through their connection with the alleged "clique." He named the two men as Frank K. Naster, Hollywood, Fla., business man.

Teitelbaum's story was followed quickly by angry denials from officials. Nathan took the committee's witness chair and swore, under oath, that it was a "dirty

Attorney General McGrath yesterday ordered that the whole matter be placed before a federal grand jury.

Only last night, Oliphant "demanded" the right to reply from the committee's witness chair to the bringing of his name into the hearings.

The committee put him down for an appearance at 10:30 a. m. today.

At the appointed hour, Oliphant failed to show up. Some 45 minutes later, Chairman King (D-Calif.) announced to the committee that Oliphant's counsel had advised that Oliphant "does not wish" to appear at this time and "indeed wishes to defer an appearance for several days."

King said the committee had no choice but to accede. Oliphant was not under subpoena. He had proposed to appear voluntarily.

BPW Christmas Program Has Gay Setting, Fine Addresses

An impressive Christmas program was presented Thursday night at the dinner meeting at Bothwell hotel, of the Business and Professional Women's club under the direction of the international relations committee of which Mrs. N. L. Nelson is chairman.

Christmas customs in other lands were carried out in attractive decorations. The speaker's table, which was American, was centered with a Christmas arrangement of pine boughs and large red candles with tiny choir boy candles. This was a gift to the Business and Professional Women's club from the Rotary club. On either side were three branch candelabra holding red candles.

Each of the other tables represented a country and Mrs. Nelson explained the decorations which carried out Christmas customs of these countries.

The first was Ireland and the table was centered with a window with a light in it. There the Christmas custom is to have a light burning in the window for anyone who is homeless, weary or hungry passing by to know that they are welcome for food and shelter for the night.

Mexico had a large pottery bowl filled with goodies and gifts. As the bowl is carried through the home the children hit it with sticks until it breaks and scatters the goodies—then they scramble to pick up all that have fallen and these are theirs to keep.

The third table was Holland, where the children put on their wooden shoes filled with grain for St. Nicholas, who comes Christmas Eve, takes the grain, and leaves gifts in the shoes.

The fourth table was England, with the yule log on which wine was poured and the log lighted to warm all from the cold. There the children light the yule log and Christmas greens around it.

The center table was Austria and on it was a small white church, much like the church of Father Moore in Austria who was inspired to write "Silent Night" as he walked along on a calm, bright night to the home of someone sick in the parish.

Dr. Earle Collins, president of Missouri Valley college, Marshall, was the guest speaker of the evening and talked on "A New Look at the Near East."

Dr. Collins, who with his family, spent last summer in Egypt where, for 20 years he had been in a college, told of the importance of what we call the Near East, where the Christ child was born and reared. He explained that within a few hundred miles of the Mediterranean Sea was the Garden of Eden, and the birth of the Christ era. Here, too, 600 years after the birth of the Christian religion was the birth of the Mohammedan religion for a very religious people. They do not believe in Christ, but they do believe in one God. And there also is the Judaism.

In speaking of the influence of Communism, which is working on the poor class in Egypt, and the poor class in Russia, and the poor class in China, he said that Communism can penetrate very deep into that country because of the religious devotion there. Five times a day, he said, the Mohammedans pray to a supreme being, their God. Communism is against religion and does not believe in a God.

In the Near East, which comprises the land area to the south and east of the Mediterranean Sea, is the greatest tension in the world, and evidence of that is the oil dispute in Iran and current Suez Canal disagreements. The Near East, unchanging with the centuries, will serve as a "seed-bed" of trouble promoted by the imperialistic Russia, and it must be won by the Western powers, the speaker said.

Miss Hurlbut Speaks
The Prince of Peace said in his teachings, the speaker pointed out, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself" and he continued, "we must think of the Near East as being our neighbor, as well as the rest of the world."

Returned from that same area is Miss Mary Hurlbut, missionary in Africa, who was present and told of Christmas there. Miss Hurlbut said that there was no white Christmas in Africa. This is summer time there and the rainy season. At this season, she said, the people of that country that we do, only in a different language. As the carolers go about from house to house singing, they are given bananas and cookies. There is a Christmas service, too, she said, with Christmas story, the manger, Mary and Joseph the shepherds and wise men and after the service all gifts—not so much money but gifts of corn, beans, eggs, which are given to the people in need. There is no Christmas tree, no presents except gifts of meat, and there is a big Christmas dinner.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Everett White, president, and invocation was by Mrs. Lena Boothe.

Sing Christmas Carols
Christmas carols were led by Mrs. E. F. Yancey with Mrs. Nellie Monagan as accompanist.

Robert Seelen presented Mrs. R. Seelen of the Madison, who sang Christmas lullabies. The lights were lowered and a spot light was on Mrs. Seelen as she sang. She was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. R. Beach.

Guests were introduced as follows: Mrs. Robert Seelen, Mrs. A. R. Beach, Guy Bailey, Mrs. Joe Menefee, Mrs. Jack Allgaier, Mrs. Mary Hurlbut, Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hurlbut, Miss Ella Pietsman, E. A. Jackson, Mrs. P. R. Menefee, Mrs. J. G. Purvis, Mrs. M. C. Ervin, Mrs. William Wesolow, Miss Ida Cruzan, Mrs. William Ward, Miss Wanda White, Miss Barbara Schumacher, Mrs. Gertrude Fisher and Mrs. Eva Moen.

Miss Clara Boesch, Miss Billie Cummings, Mrs. Irene Carlson, Mrs. Jean Marker, Mrs. Gladys Johnson, Mrs. Florence Marker and Mrs. Elinor Boyer, all of Gravois Mills.

Miss Georgia Giokaris was introduced as a new member.

At each place was a program in the form of a large red bell and favors were small candles in candle holders. Mrs. Nelson asked all persons at the head of the table to light their candle and from it was lighted each candle all the way down the table. Then, with only the light of the little candles, Mrs. Nelson told the story, the writing of the most beloved Christmas carol, "Silent Night," after which the program closed with the singing of the carol.

Members of Mrs. Nelson's committee are: Mrs. O. C. Aaserude, Miss Alma Adams, Mrs. J. W. Brown, Mrs. John Craig, Mrs. Cecil Dump, Mrs. Gladys Frederich, Mrs. Raymond Gaddard, Mrs. E. A. Jackson, Miss Daisy Martin, Mrs. Virginia Rose Moore, Miss Verona Neumeier and Mrs. Gertrude Rode.

As a background setting for the international relations program were the flags of all nations, loaned by the Missouri Pacific. There was also a large white lighted Christmas tree.

That Attack Catapulted U. S. Into World Leadership

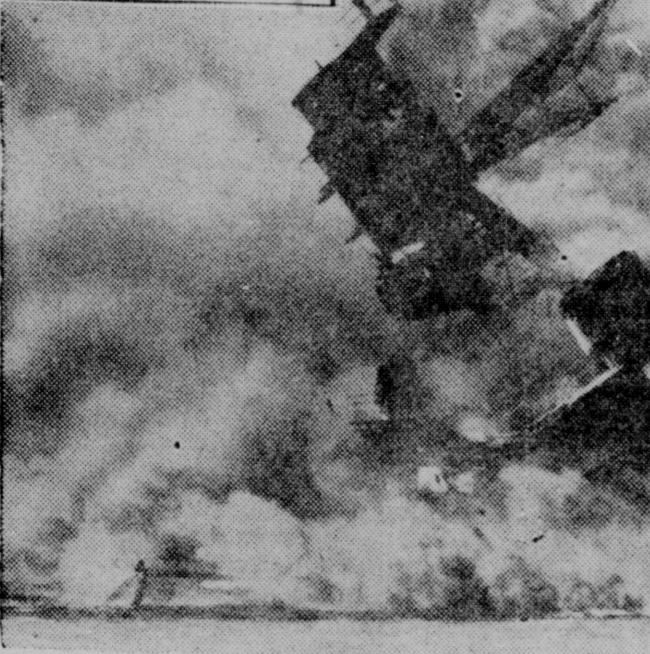

Japan's astounding attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941, proved to be much more than an act of aggression that put the United States into World War II. Today,

10 years later, we realize that it was merely the explosive start of a chain of events that elevated the United States to a position of world leadership of the forces of freedom. Illustrated below are some of the highlights of that leadership. Nations in fear of Red Russia's imperialistic expansion of communism, nations nearly bankrupt by the economic toll of war, nations in need of help to raise their standard of living all looked to the United States for leadership because this country, of all the world, has the spirit, initiative and resources to stand in the forefront of freedom.

THE TRIGGER

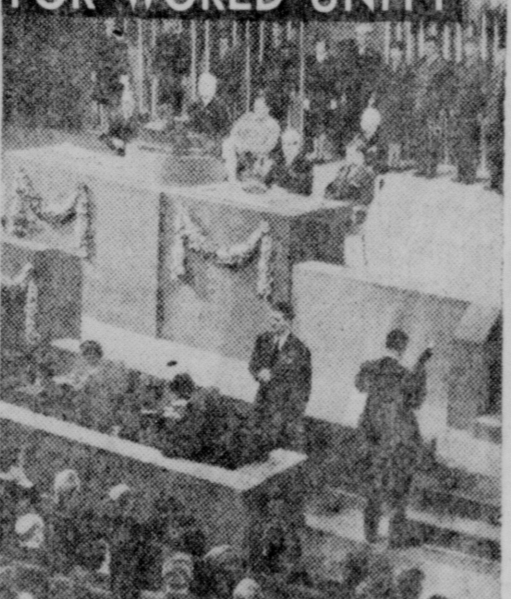

On Dec. 7, 1941, the Japanese pulled the trigger. Death and destruction rained on Pearl Harbor. The fire-swept U. S. S. Arizona slid under the waves. An angry America rolled up her sleeves.

LEADERSHIP IN THE WAR

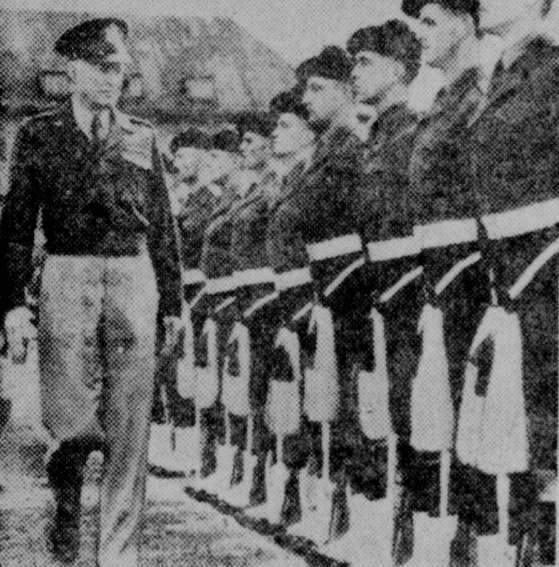

The war produced leaders in factories, in the field. Men like Wainwright, Patton, MacArthur, Nimitz. And production wizards. And scientists who built an A-bomb that toppled an empire.

LEADERSHIP FOR WORLD UNITY

U. S. gave substance to the dream of a world peace organization by sponsoring the United Nations, which first met in San Francisco.

LEADERSHIP IN THE COLD WAR

With arms aid to Greece, the Marshall Plan, Point Four program, Berlin airlift and Eisenhower's NATO army, U. S. has led the battle against communism.

LEADERSHIP IN THE HOT WAR

U. S. troops were the first foreign forces committed to action in Korea. They have borne the brunt of the battle against the lawless Reds who invaded South Korea on June 25, 1950.

LEADERSHIP SEARCH FOR PEACE

The U. S. still hopes to lead the world to lasting peace. Above, Secretary of State Dean Acheson discusses his world disarmament plan with Anthony Eden.

Tenth Anniversary of Pearl Harbor Today...

Japs, Who Talked In Washington 10 Years Ago, Still Claim No Knowledge of Attack

By Don Huth

Dec. 7—(P)—Two Japanese who 10 years ago talked peace in Washington while their navy churned toward Pearl Harbor still insist they knew nothing of the impending attack.

They are Kichisaburo Nomura, retired admiral whom the then Secretary of State Cordell Hull tongue-lashed on that Dec. 7, and special envoy Saburo Kurosu.

Nomura was ambassador to Washington. Kurosu was sent at the last minute with Japan's reply for maintaining peace while his country's militarists kindled the flames of war.

Purged now and living quietly in Tokyo, both men expressed hope that the people of the United States now understand the position into which they were thrust. "We never knew the attack was coming," said the ailing, 65-year-old Kurosu.

"The situation was very critical. War was a possibility. But we saw a chance of maintaining peace."

"We tried everything possible but our efforts came too late. There were too many ifs. It was a great disappointment to me that our efforts failed."

Robust and jovial Nomura—who will celebrate his 74th birthday on Dec. 16—said:

"They never told us the attack on Pearl Harbor was coming while our discussions were going on in Washington."

Both men have many friends in the United States. They spoke with high regard for the men with whom they conducted their talks. Each said he was extremely worried whether there was resentment against them personally for what had happened.

Kurosu recounted his particular concern over the feelings of Bernard Baruch, elder statesman whom he considered one of his good friends.

"When I was leaving the United States on the exchange ship from New York six months after the war started, word reached me indirectly from Baruch that he had not held me personally accountable for what happened," Kurosu said.

"It relieved my mind a great deal because I felt he knew we had tried our best."

Schoolgirl Coming to SINGAPORE—Miss Alice Tay, 17, of Raffles Girls' School, has been named to represent school children of Singapore at the New York Herald Tribune Youth Forum in New York in March, 1952. She was chosen from among competitors from eight schools who wrote essays on "The World We Want."

Allies in So. Korea Need Clothing of Any, All Kinds

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK—(P)—In almost every American attic today there is an old battered trunk that could save a human life far away.

The trunks contain old clothing, keepsakes of yesterday that thrifty housewives packed up for sentimental reasons—or just because they hate to throw things away.

This clothing is desperately needed by our allies in South Korea, knit to us now by almost 18 months of steady blood-letting.

In a war that has already cost perhaps 2,000,000 casualties the Korean civilians have been among the greatest sufferers. The battles, ranging up and down their weary peninsula, have made millions of homeless migrants. Life has become a pilgrimage of despair to them.

Existence in normal times is a matter of bare subsistence for most Koreans, and war has wrecked their bare and stringent economy.

With winter again gripping the land their chief problem is how to protect themselves against the bitter cold. A national drive is now underway to get the Americans to contribute all the spare clothing possible.

What kind of clothing? Anything from a pair of museum high-buttoned shoes to dad's old golf knickers. Bolts of old material. Linen of all kinds. Blankets. Left-over children's wear. Mufflers, gloves—anything that can help to cover a human body.

The plight of the refugees has done more than anything to kindle a feeling of sympathy between the American soldiers and the Korean civilians.

Last winter thousands of GIs gave away part of their own equipment to help clothe shivering Korean orphans.

A year ago the population of Seoul, the Republican capital, was being evacuated in a flight of mass distress. There have been fewer scenes of greater misery even in this century of war upon war.

Families huddled for days in the open flat cars in the train yards outside the city. Others, thinly clad, took up the long march south on foot, wading the icy streams in their path and leaving raw blood marks in the snow.

Their dead they had to abandon where they fell. Women gave birth to their babies in ditches, and got up and struggled on through the biting winds.

Men and women strapped themselves to the sides of box cars, holding their children in their arms. Sometimes at night they dozed, their weary hands let go—and a child would fall to the tracks.

... and the trains rolled on through the darkness. At every stop they lifted off the frozen dead.

I remember also the walking dead—those with the rags wrapped around their frost-bitten faces. They were gangrenous, but there was nothing for them to do but keep on moving until they dropped.

If the American people could have seen these sights, there could be no limit now to the generosity of their response to the present appeal for clothing now.

Everybody likes to play Santa Claus. And this year there is an

Another Elusive Mink Coat Has Been In Justice Dept.

By Drew Pearson

(Copyright, 1951, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—Another mink coat has been dancing around the justice department—rather, the ghost of a mink coat. It's one of those will-o'-the-wisp, now-you-see-it-now-you-don't-see-it garments that was seen on the wife of a justice department official about a year ago, but which is seen no more.

The coat, beautiful as it was supposed to be, is probably not as important as some of the political maneuvering around the alien property custodian. The general public may not realize it, but the alien property custodian handles millions of dollars worth of property seized from the Germans, Japanese and Italians during the war.

However, a mink coat worn by the wife of a government official these days is getting to be like arson, sabotage or treason, so I went down to the justice department to investigate.

The husband of the lady, Harold Baynton, the alien property custodian, I had never met before. He seemed like a nice guy and willing to open up every detail of his life; so I felt sort of like Mr. District Attorney, prying into his wife's wardrobe, especially since he was at that time under investigation by GOP Senator Wiley of Wisconsin.

Senator Wiley, I had learned earlier, had taken an investigatory interest in the alien property custodian after his brother-in-law, R. D. Jenkins, had been turned down on a case involving the International Silk Guild, of which Jenkins is an official. The silk guild wanted to collect several hundred thousand dollars from the U. S. government, which the alien property custodian seized during war as Japanese funds. The silk guild claimed they were Japanese funds, but their own funds. However, the alien property custodian finally ruled they were funds which the Japanese had set aside for advertising, and therefore belonged to Uncle Sam as alien property, not to the silk guild and to Senator Wiley's brother-in-law.

Pay to Old Roommate
However, this occurred some time ago, and today I think Senator Wiley is right in a general investigation of the alien property custodian. Meanwhile, I proceeded with the investigation of Mrs. Baynton's mink coat.

The mink coat, I had heard, was given to Mrs. Baynton by Harold Horowitz, who draws $27,000 as president of E. Leitz Co., the former German firm which makes Leica cameras. Since this alien company is now operated by the alien property custodian, Horowitz keeps his job partly at the pleasure of Mr. Baynton.

Originally, Horowitz got his job through Herbert Bergson, a former assistant attorney general who turned out to have been Horowitz's roommate at Harvard law school. Running the Leitz Co. is only a half-time job, so $27,000 is pretty good pay, though in fairness to Horowitz it should be noted that when he took the firm over, it was on the verge of bankruptcy. Now it's making real dough.

Horowitz also gets an expense account of about $15,000 a year, and Baynton's predecessor, David Dazelon, now a federal judge, questioned some of his expense items, including a reported $2,000 for a trip to California. In fact, Dazelon, on one occasion, picked up the phone and instructed Horowitz not to spend a cent more without his okay.

Incidentally, the profits from alien property go to U. S. veterans who were imprisoned by the Japs and Germans, so every dollar paid out on expenses means that much less for them.

Baynton told me, however, that he examined Horowitz's expenses and found them to be okay.

Another interesting angle is that Horowitz, having got his job as president of the Leica Camera concern through his old roommate, Herbert Bergson, is now paying aforesaid Bergson $1,000 a month as a legal retainer, Bergson now being in private law practice.

Baynton explained that the Leitz

Co. was careful to observe the fair trade act, and Bergson, former assistant attorney general in charge of the antitrust division, is an expert on this.

Mrs. Baynton's Mink
After going into all these things, I came around to the less agreeable subject of the mink coat. I pointed out that Mrs. Baynton had been seen in a mink coat last winter and it was reported that the coat had been given her by Horowitz in return for government favors given him by Mr. Baynton.

Mr. Baynton admitted that his wife did have a mink coat last Christmas, but had only borrowed it.

"She felt she deserved a mink coat," he explained. "We were in the full flush of just being appointed attorney general, and I guess I went to our heads."

"I owe quite a bit to my wife," Baynton continued. "When we moved here from the west to finish my law degree, I got a job at $1,200 a year and we lived on my wife's money. In fact, she used up most of her money before I finished studying law. However, we still had some bonds saved up, and we could have bought her a mink coat, in fact we even figured on buying one wholesale. But then last Christmas she borrowed one."

I asked if she had got it from Horowitz, and Baynton admitted that she borrowed it from Mrs. Horowitz.

"When did she send it back?"

"After two months."

Pearson's Mean Streak
"Wasn't that about the time Merle Young was getting all that publicity on his wife's $8,000 mink?" I asked, yielding to what my wife calls "that mean streak" in me.

Mr. Baynton denied this. He said his wife had sent it back before the furor over the Merle Young mink. He had been embarrassed, he said, because his wife told various people she had found the coat under the Christmas tree.

"It was a beautiful coat," he sighed, "and you know how women are—especially when their husbands have an important new job for the first time."

I said I did know. I didn't tell him, but I remembered one occasion when my wife got quite, quite irritated—so much so that I finally went out and bought her a fur coat. After that she resumed speaking to me again.

I pointed out to Mr. Baynton that he had told my assistant and the press chief of the justice department conflicting stories about his wife's "borrowed" mink, and asked him which was right. He replied that my assistant had not pressed him hard enough, and insisted that he was telling me the truth.

Personally I wasn't quite sure how to take Mr. Baynton's story, so I've decided to let the reader judge for himself.

But one thing I'm sure of is that while mink coats are important, some of the other scandals going on in this town—from the graft in the China lobby, to the B. and O. railroad RFC loan, to Guy Gabrielson's Carthage Hydrocol loan—are a lot worse than Mrs. Baynton's mink coat.

Note—The Leitz company is the same firm on which Attorney General McGrath has appointed two of his close associates as directors: C. Merlyn O'Keefe, who runs McGrath's Chrysler-Plymouth agency, and Harold G. Paul, who is vice president of McGrath's federal Savings and loan association in Providence.

See Wisconsin Primary Vote As Barometer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7.—(AP)—Senator McCarthy (R-Wis.) predicted today the results of the April 1 Wisconsin primary will go a long way toward selection of the 1952 Republican presidential nominee.

McCarthy, who has avoided any public commitment to a presidential candidate, told a reporter he believes most of the possible aspirants will be entered.

(At Los Angeles last night R.A. McConnon announced that an organization of which he is a director, "Americans for MacArthur," had filed papers for incorporation and that McCarthy would address an organization rally at Hollywood Legion Stadium Dec. 13. McConnon indicated the group did not know if MacArthur wants to run for the presidency said it would not try to draft the general and would "let him make up his own mind."

Senator Taft of Ohio, an announced candidate, has said the Wisconsin contest is the only one he will enter outside of his home state. Taft has left it up to his backers in Minnesota what action to take there, but has indicated his name may be entered for pledges of some nominators.

Supporters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower and Gen. Douglas MacArthur have announced plans to put the two generals in a running in Wisconsin. Backers of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota have predicted he will be in.

For the past four weeks Dean Stratton has been in Kansas City in the Robinson hospital and during that time neighbors saw that Robinson's family was needing wood for the winter.

So 22 of the men got busy on a wood pile for the Stratton family.

Max Elliot furnished the timber and here they came with saws ready to go to work: Ned Barrow, Lawrence Miller, Ben Davis, Elmer Aledman, Virgil Buchanan, Fred Beard, Bill and David Brown, Virgil Alderman, Clark Taylor, Leonard Logan, William McCune, Chester Hoefner, Scott Sprague, Willie Riecke, Ralph Riecke, Orval Alderman, Glenn Hunter, Bard Hunter, Finis Benware, Walter Pattorff and Virgil Alderman.

Youthful Heroine
ANSONVILLE, Ont. — (P) — Rose Lariviere, 11, saved the life of her 9-year-old friend, Ronald Filiatrault when he fell through the ice into a pool of water. Rose dragged him out and with other children wrapped him up warmly.

They cut, sawed and piled the wood high and not only gave warmth to the Stratton family physically but also spiritually. Mr. Robinson is getting along satisfactorily and expects to be home in a short time.

Mike Collins is a little horrified at the price of eggs. Next February he will be 90 years old and he remembers when he was first married that he and his wife drove the three and a half miles from their farm home to Mora. On her lap was a pan filled with eggs. They went to the general store run by Peter Holtzen and took the eggs.

Mr. Holtzen looked at them, shook his head and said: "I really don't want those eggs—but if you will take it in trade, I will give you three cents a dozen."

"And now," said Mr. Collins, "you have to pay 60c a dozen for eggs—why that is five cents apiece."

Yes, eggs and everything else have gone up a bit since then. Mr. Collins picked up a paper and started to read something. "Don't you wear glasses?" asked someone.

The man near 90 laughed—"no," he said, "and I'm in good health—I eat everything I want without teeth—and I go every place I want."

Well, he is a perfect example of "growing old is up to you"—he just doesn't intend to grow old—H.L.

Nicky Salmon, six years old, stuck his small nose in the school cafeteria kitchen the other day a little before lunch time.

"Why did you do that, Nicky?" somebody asked.

"Oh, he said, 'I just wanted to smell the menu.'—H.L.

You've heard, of course, of the fellow who locked the barn door after the horse had been stolen. How about unlocking the door after the damage has been done?

MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES

THE STORY: Alma Conroy, designer for the exclusive jewelry firm of Trumbull & Company, has been told by her husband Tommy that he has obtained a promotion in the firm, for which he also works. Tommy has a great deal of money and buys Alma an expensive gift. But as she goes to work the next day she meets Joe Denton, a friend of both Tommy and herself, who tells of an inside robbery at The House, the second in a series of thefts. Joe lives with his step-mother, a selfish, cruel woman, who also is employed by the firm.

"POOR JOE!" thought Alma, but it was actually more admiration than pity which she felt. Joe took everything calmly.

By now he would be meeting the Lock Sergeant at the counter and counter-checking the contents of the Sergeant's steel lock-box as the latter laid under glass the flaming jeweled pins and clips. Then Joe would use the little key which hung so unobtrusively on his watch-chain and the Lock Sergeant would move on to another show case, and Joe's daily guardianship would begin.

Joe was a good salesman. Women liked to buy from him. Women! And Joe had never looked at a woman other than herself! Poor Joe, thought Alma once again.

The service elevator stopped to let clerks out at Silverware, at China-and-Glass, at Special Wedding Gifts. Minor executives left at the fifth floor. At the sixth, Alma stepped out into the lobby of the workshop. Most jewelers had their jewelry manufacturing done outside the premises, but Trumbull's had, even in the new building, stuck by the tradition of having it done under their own roof.

Alma nodded to the uniformed guard who was always lumped in his chair by the door. "Morning, Pete!"

He grunted, but with a smile in his eyes.

She left her things in the locker room, slipped into her dark blue working smock and went to the check-away counter. Behind its chromium grille bright-eyed little Mr. Youmans looked like a moth-eaten gray squirrel in a cage. Alma slipped her last night's receipt under the grille and presently he brought her flat steel work-tray and unlocked it, raising the grille and slipping it out to her, smiling.

"Don't drop any diamonds on the floor today!" he admonished playfully. It was his standard joke. Alma smiled back.

"You bet I'll be careful!" she said. "The floor's about due to be sold, isn't it?"

THE floor of the workshop at Trumbull's was the dread of all its jewel-makers. It was covered by a shallow super-structure of finely knit slatwork, and despite every precaution on the journeymen's part, a certain amount of gold and platinum dust and shavings from the trays seeped through to the concrete floor beneath.

Once a year this dust was auctioned off blind to salvage dealers, the highest bidder undertaking to remove the old wooden floor and replace it with a new one. The smallest winning bid in the history of The House had been $3000.

Anything other than dust slipping through the slatwork was considered the property of the salvage firm and for a journeyman to lose even the smallest stone in this manner was looked upon as a disgrace. When Mr. Youmans made his little joke, his audience stepped carefully.

Alma found herself holding her tray grimly as she took it to her place at the bench where her grandfather already sat. Old Victor watched her affectionately as she laid out her work, his eyes anxious.

"All is well, chérie?"

He worked for an hour or more trying to get a wire in the window-fin, up under the floor board, and every other way. Finally he cracked the glass in the fin and retrieved the keys.

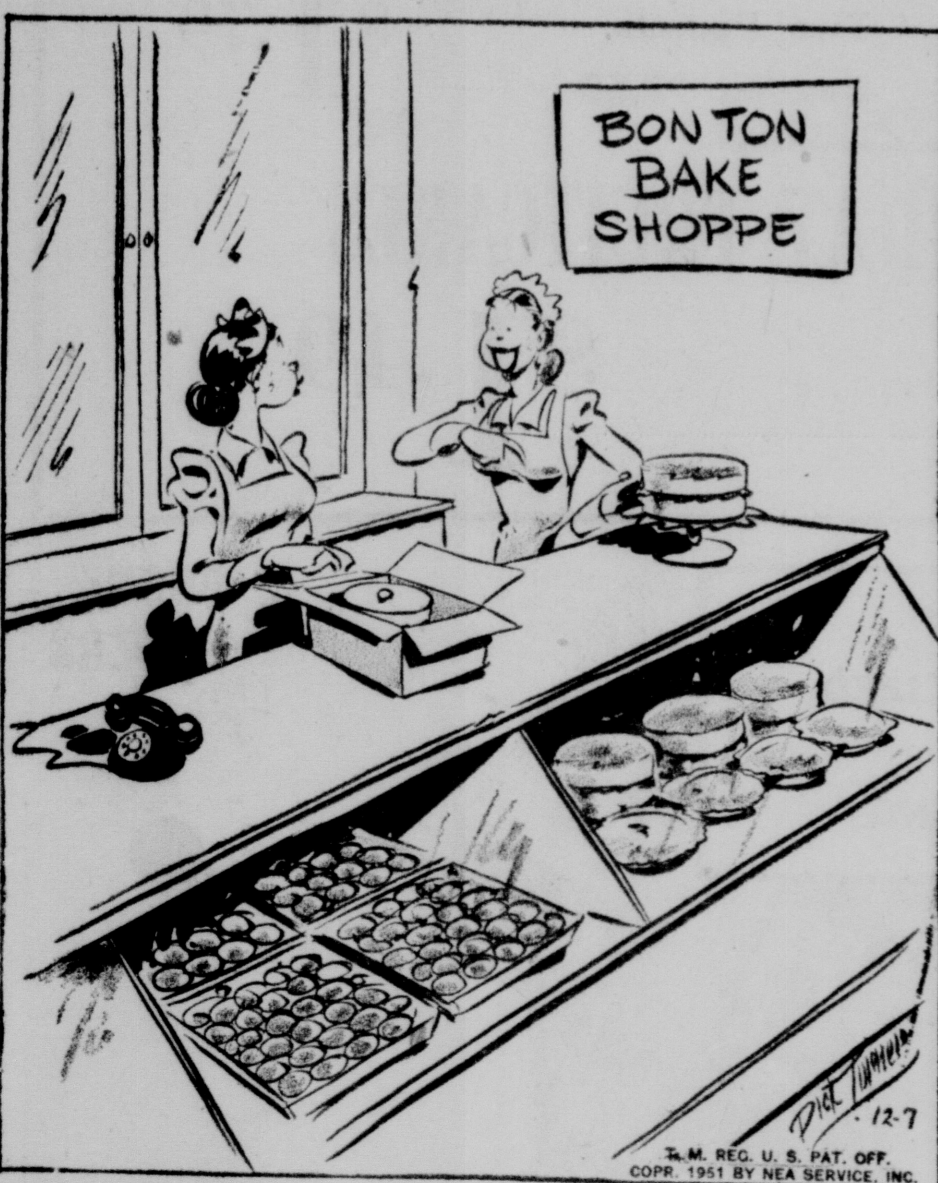

Today she has a set of keys, too.—C.M.

its own light and governing the universe including man in perfect harmony. This mind forms ideas, its own images, subdivides and radiates their borrowed light, intelligence, and so explains the Scripture phrase, 'whose seed is in itself.' Thus God's ideas 'multiply

Movement Developing To Stress Role Of Religion

A movement is developing to give religion an important role in all major areas of American life. A major factor behind movement is the growing conviction that because of the threat of atheistic Communism Americans must emphasize their belief in and reliance upon God.

In Albany, New York, last week, the Board of Regents, governing body of New York State's public schools, formally recommended that every school day begin with a prayer. The Regents suggested the following prayer to accompany the morn- ing pledge of alliance to the flag: "Almighty God, we acknowl- edge our dependence upon Thee, and we beg Thy blessings up- on us, our teachers, and our country." In a statement of policy the Regents urged that school programs also include the stress- ing of America's moral and spiritual heritage.

In endorsing the Regents' suggestion Governor Thomas E. Dewey said: "In these days of world-wide conflict between the free world and the slave world of Godless Communism, it is more vital than ever before that our children grow up with a sense of reverence and dedication to Almighty God."

In other ways, too, religion is getting greater recognition than previously in American schools. For instance, in Wayne, Pa., a month-long religious exhibit at the Radnor High School closed this week. Purpose of the exhibit was to foster better understanding of the various faiths in the community. The exhibit, arranged by the school geography teacher, contained con- tributions from the Baptist, Christian Science, Episcopal, Quaker, Jewish, Methodist, Presbyterian and Roman Catholic churches and synagogues.

Coincident with the displays, two instructors taught the principles of the world religions in the high school and tied their instruction in with the exhibit.

In another Pennsylvania community, Elkins, Park, the junior high school makes the history of religion a prominent part of its course on world history. A prospectus of the course advises pupils that "through understanding about all faiths, we should learn to become more tolerant of the people who hold them."

Students are asked to prepare reports on such questions as: "What is Russia's attitude toward religion?" "What is likely to happen to religion in China under the Reds?" "What do religious groups do to help the suffering in the world?" "What part has religion had in the founding and growth of the United States?"

For some time now, Kentucky schools have been stress- ing moral and spiritual values under an experimental pro- gram sponsored by the State Department of Education, the University of Kentucky, the four state teachers' colleges, and the University of Louisville. Recently, the Committee on Edu- cation for Kentucky Youth, having made a thorough study of the program, found it "sound" and recommended its continuance.

Sunday School Lesson

Moses as Nation Builder
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

It is one thing to deliver a peo- ple from bondage, but another thing to build them into a strong, sound, and prosperous nation.

It was a lesson that Moses learned, and it is a lesson that we are learning in these modern days of world war, when, as is often said, it is possible to win a victory and lose the peace. War in a sense represents conditions of bondage, while peace represents conditions of freedom, safety, and prosperity. We know to what extent the victory of World War I, and we realize full well how much of the peace has been lost since World War II, al- though hope is strong that through alliance and treaties we may yet retrieve that loss and build safely for the future.

It was the distinction of Moses that he was not only a deliverer, but also a builder. He encountered all the dangers, difficulties, and delays of reconstruction, the way- wardness and rebelliousness of the people and the forty years of wan- dering in the wilderness—fewer years than the world in this Twen- tieth century has wandered in the wilderness of war and fear.

In the Old Testament, and the New Testament as well, it is Mos- es who is recognized as the found- er and builder of the national and religious life, following the return of the people from Egypt, just as Abraham is honored as the origi- nal founder and pioneer.

One cannot tell, even after con- sulting the seemingly best authorities, how much of Jewish law and ritual was based upon the original foundation that Moses laid, but it is notable that the authority of Moses was attributed to whatever came later.

What were some of the stones in that national foundation that Moses laid?

First and basic, I think, was the insistence upon racial and nation- al unity as the essential means of strength and preparedness. It was sought to achieve this by strong interdiction against mixed mari- ages, and by utter destruction of enemies (See Deuteronomy 2: 34; Numbers 31: 9, 17). Though such measures seem unjust, the prin- ciple of unity is sound; no nation with intermingled races can be strong unless all elements are built into one united people. This is particularly true in the United States and Canada.

Moses built upon the foundation of religion. Even if the harshness of various measures was designed to prevent the infiltration of idol- atry, and the running of the peo- ple after strange gods, the integ- rity of religious life, allowing for freedom of faith, must be as valid today as it was then.

Much, undoubtedly, in law and ritual was directed toward the maintenance of good health in the individual and in society, hygienic measures such as every com- munity needs. Much, also, was designed to prevent social abuses, the strong over-riding the weak, and anti-social acts of immorality and unneighborliness.

How much the world needs a Moses!

Tigers Face Pirates At Hannibal Tonight

Coach Howard Gray's Smith-Cotton Tigers will seek their third victory of the 1951-52 basketball season tonight when they do battle with the Hannibal Pirates at the Hannibal court.

The Tigers have scored victories over Warren and College Hill of Warrensburg in their first two outings.

Smith-Cotton, in meeting Hannibal, faces a team that has been a fine opponent over the last few years. In fact, it wasn't until the final week of the regular season last year that the Tigers were even able to win a game in that period from Coach H. White's team—they did it then by 15 points.

Starting for the Tigers tonight will be lanky Bill Cooper and Larry Cooper at forward, Bob Hargraves at center and Claude Murphy and Ray Homan at guard posts.

Cooper and Hargraves carried the Tigers at College Hill with their fine rebounding while Murphy was the scoring spark with 14 points. Bob Hargraves is a first year man on the varsity. The last year he played the hopes of a successful season for him. If he continues to develop and just as he did last season, Homan was the B team ace last season in scoring and rebounding, but has experienced a rough time getting started this year.

Saturday afternoon the Tigers will play their second OMA game against a talent loaded MMA team at Mazon.

Smithton Whips Cole Camp Five By 41-29 Count

Smithton high school took another PBCCA basketball triumph Thursday night by defeating Cole Camp 44-29. In the first game the Cole Camp girls handed Smithton a 49-13 drubbing in a volleyball contest. Lunge of Cole Camp was the leading scorer.

In the basketball game Smithton showed off to a 19-5 lead. They increased their lead to 27-11 at halftime. In the third game Cole Camp hit the 11 points, but Smithton continued to ring up the scores to win going away.

Leland Ellish, the Cole Camp ace, fouled out before the final half was completed. Adding to the Cole Camp woes was Robert Ackerman, the regular center, who went out with a ball on his right hand.

The Wessington boys, Delbert and Bob, were the spark for Smithton, dumping in 11 and 17 points respectively. Smithton's record is 14-7-1. Cole Camp's record is 1-4-2. The following are the scores of the games played by the teams.

| Smithton | 14 | 7 | 1 |

Minor's Decision Has No Backbone—Big League Poll Indicates 24-Hour Recall Will Remain

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Although the minor leagues voted overwhelmingly to wipe out base balls' 24-hour recall rule, the vote will remain on the books, an internal poll of the big league clubs indicated today.

The rule, which President Frank Shoup, Jr., of the International League, described as "a big, big, big threat to the structure of the game," has long been a sore point with the big leagues.

The rule allows the majors to send down to the minors any player who is not wanted in the majors. It also allows the minors to send up to the majors any player who is wanted in the majors.

Minor's Decision Has No Backbone—Big League Poll Indicates 24-Hour Recall Will Remain

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 7.—(AP)—Although the minor leagues voted overwhelmingly to wipe out base balls' 24-hour recall rule, the vote will remain on the books, an internal poll of the big league clubs indicated today.

The rule, which President Frank Shoup, Jr., of the International League, described as "a big, big, big threat to the structure of the game," has long been a sore point with the big leagues.

Third of Series on Hollywood Morals— Movie Town Admits Stars Not Helped by Poor Publicity

By Bob Thomas
HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 7.—(P)—What is Hollywood doing about its misbehaving celebrities? You often hear people declare, "oh, the studios like to have their stars get in scandals; they think any publicity is good publicity."

I have found no evidence to support this belief. The men who run the studios are responsible citizens. They know that business built on scandal is shaky indeed. None of them argues that Hollywood scandals have a good effect on the box office. But there are two schools of thought on the effect.

1. One segment of the industry is gravely worried about film scandals. The arguments: The U.S. is puritanical by tradition and censures offenders of public morals. More people go to church (81,000,000 members) than go to the movies (78,000,000 estimated weekly.)

Those who argue these points add that the four top money-making movies—"Gone With the Wind," "Best Years of Our Lives," "Bells of St. Mary's," "Going My Way"—are all moral tales. They also cite the top box office stars—John Wayne, Bob Hope, Bing Crosby, Betty Grable, James Stewart, Abbott and Costello, Clifton Webb, Esther Williams, Spencer Tracy, Randolph Scott.

None of them has been involved in a big scandal; they are respected and responsible citizens. 2. Others argue that although a star is not helped by a scandal, he is not hurt, either. They claim that the American public is easy to forgive and forget the misdeeds of their favorites. They say that responsible people may be offended by a star's behavior, but the responsible public is not necessarily the movie-going public.

They point out that the careers of Errol Flynn, Robert Mitchum, Robert Walker and Ava Gardner did not appear to suffer because of their headlined doings. Rita Hayworth's return to the screen remains a question mark, but observers agree if the picture is good, it should make money. Likewise, it a top producer told me if Ingrid Bergman had a good picture, a forgetful public would flock to it.

Charlie Chaplin's last film did poorly, but largely because of its muddled message and the lack of the old Chaplin character. And whatever censure was applied came because of Chaplin's political views, not his trials on Mann act and paternity charges.

Even if stars have escaped unscathed from scandals, this doesn't mean that Hollywood is doing nothing about preventing future headlines. It lacks the formal machinery, since the Producers' association can only control film content, not individual morals.

But a great deal of pressure is applied on potential wrong-doers by studios, agents, and friends. Many juicy stories do not happen, or at least don't get in the papers, because of quick action by responsible persons.

Minor personalities who become trouble-makers soon find themselves dropped from their contracts and unable to find jobs at any of the studios. They are passed up as bad risks.

The studios have also begun indoctrinating their young players on how to stay out of trouble. Paramount has coached the hopefuls of its golden circle along these lines, and Dore Schary does the same with MGM newcomers. Hollywood has discovered that its responsible stars may be duller, but they're a lot less trouble.

Newspapermen Cases Left Up to Judge

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 7.—(P)—The issue of whether public officials were defamed by newspaper criticism was in the hands of a Louisiana judge today following the trials of two newspaper editors charged with criminal defamation.

Judge J. Bernard Cooke had under advisement the defamation cases of Kenneth L. Dixon and James Norton, managing editor and city editor of the Lake Charles American Press.

Judge Cooke said his decision, which will be written, may not be forthcoming for at least a month. He said he would set a date for argument of the cases later.

Norton and Dixon were two of five newspapermen indicted during a campaign to enforce gambling laws. They are charged with defaming 16 public officials and three gamblers.

Dixon's trial was sparked with the outburst of District Attorney Griffin T. Hawkins, one of the officials allegedly defamed, who stalked across the courtroom while Dixon was on the stand and excitedly shook his hand at the witness.

Hawkins, who was a spectator in court since he is one of the allegedly injured officials and is not prosecuting the case, muttered to the judge as he glared at Dixon.

"When this man comes off the stand, I'm going to whip him," Dixon quoted Hawkins. The district attorney's words could not be heard by others in the courtroom.

Judge Cooke ordered Hawkins from the room.

During a subsequent recess, however, Hawkins strode into the courtroom again and approached Dixon after he had left the stand. Two deputies led the enraged district attorney from the room.

City Editor Norton, charged with defaming Sheriff Henry Reid in an article written for the Louisiana Courier-Journal, followed Dixon on trial.

Norton's indictment was based on a portion of this article that said the sheriff's records weren't available to a newspaper reporter when he sought them while covering his courthouse beat.

Sporting Notes About Sedalia

Neal Warren, a wrestler who appeared in the local ring Thursday night in the main event came up with a new answer to charges of biting. The referee warned him to stop the illegal tactics and Warren shot back with: "I didn't bite my mouth."

Don Potter won't be with the Tigers tonight when they meet Hannibal because he has to take an ROTC test at the University of Missouri. Potter, a first string guard, will go on to Mexico for Saturday afternoon's game with Missouri Military Academy. The ROTC test is given but once a year.

The Pettis-Benton County Athletic association, composed of eight teams, is going to have quite a race for the title this year. In Smithton, La Monte, Lincoln and Sacred Heart the loop has four fine teams—and in Green Ridge, Houstonia, Warsaw and Cole Camp the PBCCA has teams that can all be considered as dark-horses.

Raytown, one of the best teams Smith-Cotton faced this year, will lose 22 seniors this spring. Raytown's only loss this season was to Sedalia in nine games and one tie. Raytown was an easy winner of the Marble Bowl game at Carthage last week.

Akins Belts Joe Brown In St. Louis Ring Show

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—(P)—Virgil Atkins, fast gaining momentum in his campaign for a shot at the lightweight title, won a unanimous 10-round decision last night over Joe Brown of New Orleans, who twice had beaten him.

Both Brown and his St. Louis opponent were cautious and the deliberate brawl, marked by a few flurries of action but no knock-downs, drew some boos from the crowd of 3,726 at Kiel auditorium.

Akin lost by decisions in his two previous fights with Brown. Juan Padilla of Mexico won a split decision over Charley Riley of St. Louis in a 10-round feather-weight semi-final match.

50c of Every Mo. Tax Dollar For New Services

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 7.—(AP)—“Fifty cents of every tax dollar that your state spent last year was spent for new governmental services that were unknown 15 years ago.

This was the statement of Gov. Forrest Smith in a speech prepared for the South St. Louis Lions club. It was one in a series of speeches lately by the governor, an unannounced candidate for U. S. senator.

Missouri has remained financially strong despite increasing demands for government services, the governor said.

He told how the state has expanded its services in order to receive a larger portion of available federal matching funds.

He cited a change in aid to the blind as an example. It has enabled the state to receive federal funds for the first time and blind persons' pensions have been increased.

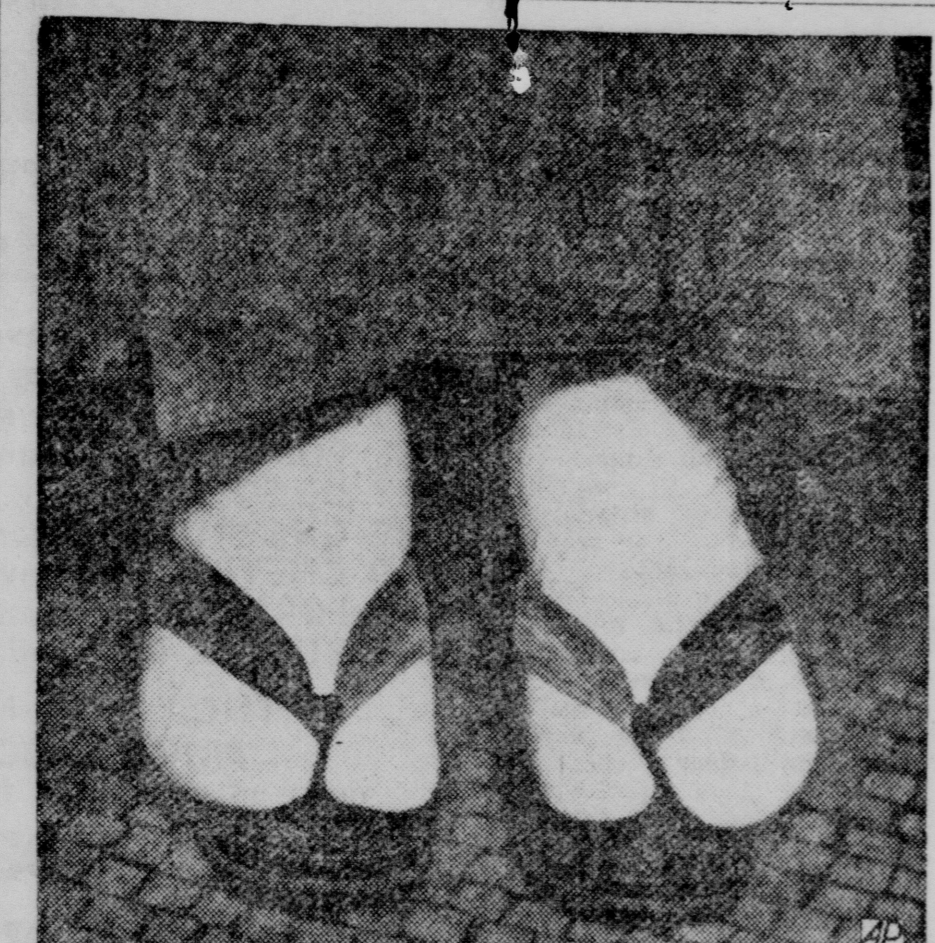

Discussing welfare programs, Smith said that “approximately 6,000 persons have been transferred from the state-financed general relief program to the federal-state program of aid ‘for permanently and totally disabled’ persons.

He also pointed out that more than 67,000 are now receiving the maximum old age assistance grant of $50 a month as compared to a total of about 47,000 in 1948.

The governor said increased state appropriations for the state highway department have enabled

Under the authority of the flood aid act, $1,960,000 was made available for use in a six-state area affected by the recent floods. It

Secret Service Puts Out Alert On Counterfeits

The United States Secret Service again reminds merchants and moneyhandlers to be on the alert for passers of counterfeit money during the Christmas shopping season. This is a favored for passing counterfeit because of crowded stores and extra help.

The following notes are among the most actively passed in this area in recent weeks and are the notes most likely to be passed again.

However, the Secret Service advises that all money should be watched carefully. Compare any suspected bill with a genuine bill of the same denomination:

McGrath Launches Grand Jury Probe On Tax Shakedown

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Attorney General McGrath today launched a grand jury investigation into Abraham Teitelbaum's charges that two men, claiming friendship with federal officials, tried to shake him down for $500,000 with promises of a "tax fix."

Teitelbaum, a wealthy Chicago lawyer, told his sensational story to House tax probes Tuesday. He swore that Frank Nathan and Bert K. Naster led him to believe that they knew of a Washington clique which was on the lookout for "soft touches" like him, and that for half a million they could "make it easy" for him.

Churchill Reports

British Lag On Build-Up Of Defenses

LONDON, Dec. 6—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill said tonight Britain will be unable to complete her $13 billion defense program on schedule in 1953.

"We shall get on as fast as we can," Churchill told the House of Commons in reply to a question from Laborite Left-Winger Anurin Bevan. "We shall do our best, but I should be very wrong to warn the House that there will be a lag, as there has been in all munitions programs I have seen or been connected with."

Speaking as his own defense minister in debate, the Conservative chief minister referred to Bevan's prediction of last spring that Britain was trying to rearm too fast. Churchill told the House that even this year's $3,500,000,000 defense spending was behind schedule.

Speed Caused Bevan To Quit
Bevan quit the Labor government cabinet of Clement Attlee April 23 with a protest that Britain was trying to rearm faster than her economy and social services would permit.

Churchill told the House: Britain has made considerable progress toward building an A-bomb.

There is less danger of World War III now than at any time since the Berlin air lift of 1948 because of "deterrents against aggression" created by the United States, Britain and other nations of the free west.

Some 250,000 armed service personnel in the nation's military establishments and depots have been ordered to be at "combat ready" to repel any possible invasion by parachute troops.

A short training course for Britain's ex-servicemen will be held again next year along the same lines of the one of the past summer.

Rifle Problem Unsolved

Britain's plan to produce a new 280 caliber rifle will be shelved in the hope that agreement can be reached on a standard size rifle with the United States and Canada. The United States favors its own .30 caliber Garand.

Churchill still is not convinced the North Atlantic Allies should appoint a supreme commander for the Atlantic Ocean. Churchill said the nationality of such a commander was secondary, although before he became prime minister he protested because the job was due to go to an American, Adm. William F. Henshaw.

On atomic research, Churchill said that when he came into office as prime minister six weeks ago he found much work had been done. He said this work was "not only on making the crucial materials required for the atomic bomb but in preparing to manufacture the weapon."

He indicated A-bomb development would be one of the things he will discuss with President Truman in Washington next month. Churchill said "there are certain aspects of this delicate subject I hope we may clarify by discussion with the United States authorities."

Mercury Drops Over Wide Area

By The Associated Press
A whopping big storm brought strong winds and dropping temperatures to the Northern Plains, Rocky Mountain area and parts of the Midwest Thursday.

The storm, centered at mid-day in south central Nebraska, was causing strong winds from Chicago westward to the Rockies and from the Canadian border southward to central Texas.

Winds of gale force swept the Kansas City, Mo., area, smashing plate glass windows and felling trees and power lines. Gusts at Kansas City were reported up to 50 miles an hour.

Blizzard conditions were reported in northeastern Colorado. Snow and freezing temperatures hit Wyoming and Montana, with two to six inches of snow in Wyoming. Northeastern Colorado reported 50 mile an hour winds.

A low reading early today of 15 below zero at Big Piney, Wyo., was the coldest in the nation, but was "not representative of the air mass," forecasters said. Big Piney is in the mountains and the temperatures in its area generally were below freezing but far from that cold.

The storm was moving north-eastward and was expected to be centered over Minnesota by Friday morning.

Volcano Roars Again; Deaths Climb To 209

MANILA, Friday, Dec. 7—(AP)—A river of red-hot lava from Hibok Hibok volcano rolled into the sea last night, churning up explosive geysers and vast clouds of steam. It isolated more than 200 inhabitants on northwest Camiguin island.

A light earthquake and fresh cascades of glowing rocks and ash from the volcano brought new terror to the few Filipinos remaining on the devastated northern side of Camiguin.

The latest violent eruption—the fourth since Tuesday—many have caused more deaths.

The count of bodies recovered from the fringes of six square mile area blanketed under volcanic ash stood at 209. The governor of eastern Misamis province has estimated that another 500 charred corpses may lie buried under the volcanic ash.

Wind and rain kicked up by the fringes of a typhoon boring into the central Philippines were adding to the discomfort of refugees on the six-by-nine island just north of big Mindanao in the southern Philippines.

The refugees were crowded on the southern side of Camiguin. Many huddled under the shelter of coconut palms. Thousands had fled the devastated island.

Negro Badly Hurt By Unprovoked Shot In KC Parking Lot

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 6—(AP)—A Negro lot attendant was shot and wounded dangerously here tonight by a man who fired without warning after leaving his car in the lot.

Curtis Johnson, 32, Kansas City, Kas., was shot through the left side.

Another attendant said he was about 50 feet away when the shot was fired. He obtained a glimpse of two men and a woman as they ran away from the lot.

The second attendant, Arthur Glenn, Negro, said Johnson told him that as the men and woman approached it appeared they intended to walk past him, disregarding the parking fee.

Johnson said he asked the men for the 35-cent fee. He quoted one of the men as saying: "I don't have 35 cents, but I've got this."

He drew a revolver or a pistol from his pocket and shoved it at Johnson.

Johnson told Glenn he thought the man was joking. Glenn quoted Johnson as replying: "That's nothing. I've got one of those things myself."

Glenn said that Johnson told him the man fired without saying another word.

The car is a battered, 1947 sedan with Nebraska license plates.

Glenn said Johnson told him the man fired without saying another word.

Prices To Jump On Autos

Government Informs 10 Manufacturers They May Apply For New Rate

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6—(AP)—The government tonight told automobile manufacturers they can apply for higher price ceilings and said eight of the ten car makers already have indicated they will seek the increases.

The optional boost will be the third since automobile prices were frozen a little more than a year ago.

The Office of Price Stabilization said it has no idea how much the new formula may entitle auto makers to raise their prices. Each manufacturer must calculate his own ceilings and submit them for approval.

Even if all ten manufacturers obtain higher ceilings, OPS said it could not say how many actually will put them into effect.

The two ceilings increases approved earlier this year have been estimated by OPS to average from 8 1/2 to 9 1/2 per cent.

Capehart Plan To Blame

OPS said the third adjustment must be allowed under the Capehart amendment to the economic controls law. This amendment requires OPS to permit manufacturers to use pre-Korean prices and add or subtract all cost changes, including overhead, through last July 26.

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle said that "undoubtedly the supplementary regulation issued tonight will result in some increases in manufacturers' ceilings."

The manufacturers were granted a 3 1/2 per cent interim increase last spring to take care of some higher production costs.

In September they were permitted another increase, which OPS said averaged 5 to 6 per cent. Of the ten auto manufacturers, all but three—Willys, Hudson and Crosley—have asked and been granted some increases under the September order.

OPS said all those granted higher ceilings since September have paid higher prices into effect.

Higher Overhead Ignored
The September order allowed addition of higher labor costs only through last March 15 and higher raw materials costs through last Dec. 31 and March 15, depending on the type of material. It did not permit addition of higher costs for overhead and some other items permissible under Capehart.

A major item newly allowed is the extra cost of "conversion" steel. Normally auto makers buy steel from the mills in the form in which they plan to use it. As supplies tightened, however, they have been buying some of the metal in whatever form they could find it, and having it processed into the sheets or other forms they need.

Mo-Pac Ordered To Pay Interest On Bond Issues

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific railroad was authorized by federal court here today to make bond back interest payments totaling $35,088,575.

The action quickly boosted demand for Mo-Pac issues on the New York corporate bond market. Several of the 5 per cent issues gained fractions to more than a point.

The authorization was requested of Federal Judge George H. Moore last September by Guy A. Thompson, trustee for the bankrupt railroad. He said earnings justify the action.

Judge Moore today instructed Thompson to go ahead with the payments unless appealing parties post a stay-of-judgment bond by Monday noon.

One of the orders authorizes payment of $33,478,575 on Mo-Pac first and refunding mortgage bonds including series A, F, G, H and I, in installments every six months for the period of 1943 to 1946.

Another calls for payment of $1,610,000 in interest of first and refunding bonds of a subsidiary, the International Great Northern railroad, for the same period. It takes in the A, B and C series.

For the Missouri Pacific, the payment would be on bond principal of $232,190,500 and for the Great Northern on bond principal of $17,250,000.

The Mo-Pac has been in bankruptcy since 1933.

Big 4 Fail To Reach Disarmament Accord

PARIS, Dec. 6—(AP)—The big four's secret disarmament talks reached an impasse today.

The delegates in effect gave up trying for agreement on the controversial east-west plans and prepared to throw the problem back in the lap of the U. N. assembly's political committee.

The end came after eight closed door meetings among Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, U. S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup, British Minister of State Selwyn Lloyd, and French delegate Jules Moch. They have met as a sub-committee under the chairmanship of assembly president Luis Padilla Nervo of Mexico.

Padilla Nervo announced the group will meet again tomorrow.

Crusading Newsmen To Trial

Managing editor Kenneth Dixon (left) of the Lake Charles, La., American Press was the first of five newsmen to go on trial in Lake Charles Wednesday on charges of defaming 16 public officials and three gamblers during an anti-gambling crusade. Dixon goes over briefs with his attorney, Clement Moss.

He Twice Threatened Witness

LAKE CHARLES, La., Dec. 6—(AP)—District Attorney Griffin T. Hawkins was ordered out of the courtroom today after threatening a newspaperman on trial for defaming public officials during a crusade against open gambling.

Hawkins made a second threat during a court recess, but was led away by deputy sheriffs. No blow was struck.

Hawkins, who had been listening to defense testimony by managing editor Kenneth L. Dixon of the American, first strode up to the judge's bench just after Dixon declared: "I believe the people of this parish (county) knew then (at the time of the alleged defamation) and know now what kind of officers the district attorney and sheriff were and are."

He Shakes His Fist
Hawkins talked excitedly to Judge Bernard Cocke and shook his fist and finger toward Dixon, who was watching from the witness box. Hawkins' voice was inaudible to the rest of the courtroom, but during a noon recess Dixon said he heard Hawkins tell the judge:

"When he (Dixon) comes off the witness stand, I'm going to whip his—"

Judge Cocke ordered Hawkins from the courtroom but the district attorney did not leave. Instead he crossed the courtroom and sat down on the other side still facing and glaring at Dixon.

"Your honor, we don't understand the action of Mr. Hawkins threatening the witness," Defense Attorney Clement Moss said. "I told you to leave the courtroom, Mr. Hawkins," Judge Cocke declared. Hawkins walked out into the corridor.

He's Only A Spectator
Hawkins was a spectator at the trial, having disqualified himself as prosecutor since he was one of the public officials allegedly defamed by Dixon.

The defense rested its case shortly after the court began its afternoon session, and the court called the case against city editor James Norton, accused of defaming Sheriff Henry Reid in articles written for the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal.

Dixon was accused of defaming Hawkins, assistant district attorney Melvin Wetherill, and the 13 members of the parish police jury (county governing body).

New York City Enjoys Warmest Day For Date

Ex-Jap Naval Pilot Recalls Bomb Raid On Pearl Harbor

NARA, Japan, Friday, Dec. 7—(AP)—A peace-loving, God-fearing Japanese farmer today said he lived his finest hour ten years ago when he led the surprise air attack on Pearl Harbor.

He is Mitsuo Fuchida, former naval captain who commanded the fighters and torpedo bombers that roared down on the major U. S. Pacific naval base on "the day that shall live in infamy."

Within two hours, more than 3,000 Americans were killed or wounded. A great portion of the fleet was sunk or damaged and the war began.

Fuchida—49 years old now and only recently taken off the purged lists—told in an interview how he was baptized a Christian. Today I believe no war could be righteous and pave the way for peace.

His Views Have Changed
"I frankly admit my 'patriotism' was a narrow-minded one, not to be accepted by the peoples of the world," he said. "When Japan decided to bare rearmament, I supported it wholeheartedly."

"I also took a religion. Last year I was baptized a Christian. Today I believe no war could be righteous and pave the way for peace."

Fuchida said he wants "to devote the rest of my life to repudiating such a fallacy which appears to still possess both the east and west now."

Allies Term It 'Blackmail'

Reds Put A Price On A Discussion Of UN Prisoners

MUNSAN, Korea, Friday, Dec. 7—(AP)—Communist truce negotiators held out for a "price" Thursday on discussing exchange of Allied prisoners of war in Korea. An official United Nations command spokesman called it "blackmail."

The Reds said Allied acceptance of a Communist plan for supervising an armistice must come before they would talk about prisoners.

They made this evident after Allied delegates presented an eight-point revised plan for supervision of a truce which offered some concessions to the Reds.

The Communists were expected to answer the revised U. N. plan or submit a new one of their own at a fourth subcommittee meeting, scheduled for today.

Maj. Gen. Howard M. Turner, senior U. N. sub-delegate, put the prisoner issue to the Reds Thursday, proposing to speed consideration by placing a second joint sub-committee at work on it immediately.

Red Reply Heated

North Korean Maj. Gen. Lee Song Cho, Red sub-delegate, heatedly replied: "When there is no prospect for progress of the meeting, our senior delegate (Lt. Gen. Nam Il) will not give you any answer about the prisoners of war."

One U. N. press spokesman, Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, went further and flatly charged the Reds with "negotiating blackmail."

(In turn, the Peiping radio early today said Red delegates at Panmunjom complained that the new Allied truce supervision plan "had nothing new in it.")

Allies Refuse Commitment
(The Red broadcast said the U. N. team had not uttered "a word of straight opinion on our proposals," thus three days had been wasted without any progress.)

Quoting a Kaesong dispatch Peiping said, "Our delegates urged the other side to state their views on our proposals so that the meeting could go on to discuss something useful."

The modified eight-point Allied plan called for behind-the-lines inspection by joint Red-Allied observation teams, as before. But it accepted the Communist view that the inspection should be confined to ports of entry agreed upon by both sides.

SEoul, Korea, Friday, Dec. 7—(AP)—The U. S. Fifth Air Force announced it destroyed 35 Communist field guns—enough to outfit an artillery regiment—in a special frontline attack Thursday, and battled Red jets over North Korea for the eleventh straight day.

One Red MIG-15 listed as destroyed, one probably destroyed and another damaged in the day's air-to-air battles.

The ground war was quiet for the ninth straight day since armistice negotiators agreed on a provisional cease-fire line. The infantry had little to do except beat off an occasional Communist probe and duck Chinese shells.

It was to stop some of this continual Communist harassing fire that the U. S. Fifth Air Force made 107 ground-support flights Thursday in a special attack.

Children Employers Watch Labor Laws

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 6—Employers who hire children during the Christmas rush should make sure that they abide by federal as well as state regulations applying to child labor, Walter W. King, Regional Director of the Wage and Hour Public Contracts Divisions, U. S. Department of Labor, said here today.

Nationalist supporters of Mossadegh turned out and joined the police in swirling skirmishes fought largely with stones, clubs, bare fists, tear gas, streams from fire hoses and rifle bullets. Police at times fired guns, mostly into the air. Two Reds were reported wounded by police bullets.

The street fighting was the heaviest since more than 20 persons died in riots last June. Demonstrations in the capital street were barred after that rioting.

Son Of KC Millionaire Arrested For Robbery
DENVER, Dec. 6—(AP)—Anton Bowers, son of a Kansas City, Mo., millionaire, was charged in Denver district court today with aggravated robbery.

He was the 20-year-old University of Colorado student who led police on a wild cross-town chase after stealing a taxicab Tuesday night. He finally was stopped when a policeman shot him in the leg.

Detectives said Bowers engaged the cab at a downtown hotel, pulled a stickup on the driver in a residential district and forced the driver from the cab to begin his wild ride. It included 70-miles-an-hour speed on one-way streets.

A police cruiser and a civilian's auto were wrecked during the chase.

Warsaw Man Drowns In Crash Of Plane In Lake Of Ozarks

Men working on the west bank of Cole Camp creek, are seen in the top picture, about 10:45 p.m. Friday, pulling on a line attached to the four-passenger Stinson airplane which crashed into the creek, after striking power lines about 2:45 in the afternoon. The men in the background are working a block and tackle, while those in the foreground are working the tow line. Bottom picture shows the tail fin as it came up out of the water. Later the plane was pulled to the bank a twisted mass of wreckage. (Staff Photo)

Earl "Butch" Wright, Jr., 29, pilot of a four-passenger Stinson plane, was drowned, but his two passengers Estel Kinkadee, 40, and Sammy Elliott, 20, both of Warsaw, were rescued, when the plane crashed into Cole Camp creek, 14 miles east of Warsaw about 2:45 p.m. Friday. The accident occurred about a half-mile north of the Rodney Tevis boat dock, Lakeside Estates, on the Lake of the Ozarks. The plane first struck two power lines of the Co-Mo Electric Co. operative, Inc., REA, which hung over Cole Camp creek, then nosed down into the creek 50 feet below. It appeared as the first wire was snapped from the pole on the east side of the creek, and the second wire snapped from both the pole on the east and west side of the creek and became entangled in the plane.

Plane Was Flying Low

Rodney Tevis, owner of the boat dock and store, said he was standing on the ground watching men working on his building when he noticed the plane coming in from the south. "The plane was flying very low, in fact lower than where I was standing. I ran toward the lake, just in time to hear my wife scream and see the plane going down."

"I called to Leon Lutjen, (Edmundson, Mo.) and with him went to the place in a motor boat. I thought I saw one man swimming, but as we got nearer we saw two men standing neck-deep in the water on the fuselage. No third man was visible," Tevis said.

Three witnesses actually saw the crash—Mrs. Alma Mathies of Lakeside Estates and Mr. V. A. Downing, of Kansas City, who were fishing on the east bank of the creek; and Mrs. Tevis, who was standing down near the boat dock. They said the plane seemed to hit the wires, straighten up momentarily and then drop nose down into the water, which was between 15 and 20 feet deep. The plane went down about 500 feet from the west shore line.

The rescued men were taken back to Tevis' place and given emergency aid until Dr. A. W. Moreland, Benton county coroner, arrived and gave further emergency treatment. Later they were brought to Sedalia to the Bothwell hospital in the Reser ambulance from Warsaw.

Injured Men Leave Hospital

Kinkadee suffered two severe cuts on his head above the right eye, and other minor facial abrasions; Elliott a head bruise, injury to the right ankle, and bruises. The two were attended at the Bothwell by Dr. E. L. Rhodes. They were released Saturday afternoon to return home.

Kinkadee said he was riding in the back seat, Wright was piloting the plane, and Elliott was riding beside Wright. Kinkadee told the State Troopers Glenn Means and Pete Stohr, that he didn't know what had happened, other than they were flying low. The plane seemed to be operating all right. Elliott said he could remember just what happened other than getting the door opened and getting out. The next thing he knew he was on the surface and started to swim, but returned to help Kinkadee when he heard him call for help. He said he thought Wright was near him and called him but received no answer. Kinkadee explained he remembered feeling his way down the side of the plane to the door and getting out. He said he couldn't swim and when he surfaced called out for help. Elliott returned and they stood together on the fuselage until rescued.

'Cal' Rodgers Moves Agency Into A New Building Today

Mr. Rodgers said the first 150 women to visit the new show room will be given orchids by the Pontiac Motor Co., today providing they arrive on time. Should the orchids fail to arrive today they will be given out on Monday, the official day for the preview of the 1952 Pontiac cars.

The Cal Rodgers Pontiac Co. moves into its new home at Fifth and Kentucky, today. A double celebration is being held by M. C. "Cal" Rodgers, the proprietor of the company, on the occasion of his new building and the first showing of the new 1952 Pontiac automobile.

"A dream of several years has come true," Mr. Rodgers said Saturday. Continuing he said, "I have wanted to build a garage suitable for the Pontiac agency, and Sunday we move into our new home. I hope Sedalia will like our improvement to Sedalia's business district and our new location."

The building is 92 x 46 feet, built of brick and haydite blocks. It has plenty of window openings giving much added and needed daylight.

The front of the building has a spacious show room of 46 x 24 feet, with full glass windows from the floor to the ceiling on the front and the north and south sides, making it possible for the automobiles to be viewed from the street.

Mirrors Reflect Car Image
The show room also has two large mirrors on the east wall which also reflects the far side of the cars so they too can be seen from the outside.

Just back of the show room in the center of the building is the office, constructed with glass block counter, on the south side is a spacious private office of Mr. Rodgers which will also be used for a sales room, this too is built of glass blocks and equipped with air-conditioning.

On the north and just east of the show rooms are two rest rooms.

In the back is the shop or service department, 46 x 46 where light work will be handled on customer's cars, such as motor tuning, car greasing, washing, and servicing of new automobiles. In this department has been installed new hydraulic full lift and six vents, which are used to carry off car fumes while the motors are being tuned.

In the back shop will be constructed the parts department.

Storage Room Above Office
There is a large storage room above the show room and office space, 34 x 46 feet with a seven-foot head clearance. Entrance to this storage space is gained through a disappearing stairway.

In the shop department there are also four spacious working stalls for mechanics, and here will be used the new Allen testing equipment, one of the latest models on the market.

The building throughout has fluorescent lighting.

On the outside and, in front of the building a space was arranged in which evergreens have been planted, this adding to the beauty of the structure.

The motor company has another large building to the north of the new building which is 60 x 40 which will be used for heavy work such as motor overhauling, body work, painting, welding and such.

Cramer and Schrader Construction Co. of Sedalia were the general contractors, other local firms who participated in the construction were L. & G. Electric Co., Durgan's Wallpaper and Paint Co., Anderson Heating and Air-conditioning Co., C. C. Cover and Son, and Elwood Thompson Plumbing and Heating Co., William C. Dr. Maddox In Assembly Talk at HHS

Dr. A. R. Maddox, local physician, was guest speaker for the junior class of Hubbard high school in assembly Friday morning and used as his subject "Education - Training."

He stated that students must have both training and education. The words are not synonymous, nor is one alone enough. Whenever training has been substituted for education, as in Communist Russia, Nazi Germany and militaristic Japan, the world has given robot men as deadly as the robot bombs and as bent on destruction.

Education means "to lead out," he said. It involves a widening of vision and deepening of thought. It is creative and constructive. "You can train an animal but you can only educate a man."

Training has its uses in making customs become automatic habits. Just as the dictators train for cruelty, so we can and have trained our citizens to observe the rights and well being of others. Of course there are exceptions, but they stand out because they are exceptions, not the rule, he added. "Our homes should be the training ground for good manners and cleanliness, for right living and right thinking," Dr. Maddox declared. We can train ourselves in all the qualities we must admire in others. We can make a habit of being punctual, courteous and considerate. We can train ourselves into the habits of perseverance and concentration.

On the basis of such training, he explained, we are ready for education. Education is not merely book learning. It is understanding; it is the use of the trained mind to learn from people and circumstances as well as from books; it is the opening of new doors of thought through which appear the virtue of our deepest ideals, our truest dreams.

The junior class, under the supervision of Mrs. Lois Anderson, presented a one-act play entitled, "Sacrifice," which preceded Dr. Maddox's address.

Prof. Hylick, principal of the school, closed the program with some remarks relating to the address.

Rev. Stack Losing Eyesight As Result of Baseball Injury

It has been more than three months ago that the Rev. William P. Stack, C. P. S. former assistant rector of Sacred Heart parish, received an injury to one of his eyes and the sight is still un-restored.

The accident happened during a night baseball game in Cincinnati when a foul ball went into the stands where the Rev. Mr. Stack was sitting. Blinded by the flood lights, he was unable to catch it. It hit him in the face and broke his cheek bone.

After three weeks in a Cincinnati hospital and four weeks in one in Norfolk, Va., word has been received here that the eyeball will not have to be removed, but the vision still has not returned.

The Rev. Mr. Stack, who was assistant pastor at Sacred Heart from the spring of 1942 until the fall of 1947, was manager of the Sacred Heart Redbirds while here.

For the past three years he has been at the Resurrection church in Cincinnati, Ohio, where he carried on a schedule of activities. In Sept., 1950, together with the pastor, the Rev. Roger C. Straub, he inaugurated continuous night and day prayers for peace in their parish church and within the past year their parishioners spent a total of over 25,000 hours of silent prayer in the church. Rev. Stack admitted pretty rough hour of from 4 to 5 o'clock in the morning every day for his hour of prayer.

Last week's issue of the Cincinnati Telegraph-Register notes that Resurrection parish's record has inspired 13 other churches in Cincinnati to follow its example of carrying out the method of securing peace for the world by the conversion of Russia.

Rev. Stack was recently transferred to Sacred Heart church, 520 Graydon Park, Norfolk, Va.

He's Just Too Rough

Warren Mauls Dobbs To Take Mat Headliner

Johnny Dobbs, Omaha, Neb., just didn't have the stuff to handle Neil Warren of Columbus, Ohio, in the main event on the weekly American Legion wrestling card, and Warren won the event.

Dobbs succeeded in taking the first fall in 15 minutes and nine seconds by using the flying mare and smother to win. They entered the ring using "Texas rules" which was very evident in the first period. In the second fall period Warren fought up Dobbs to the extent that he was unable to take body slams and smother to take the fall in eight minutes and 59 seconds. Warren using a forearm smash to Dobbs jaw and a body smother won the third fall in two minutes and 18 seconds.

After being awarded the match, Warren strutted about the ring like a cocky rooster, drawing many boos from the ringeriders.

In the girl's wrestle royal event, Connie O'Connor, Toledo, Ohio, and Corky "Tuffy" Lee, Minot, N. D., were the winners over Rose Marie Alvarez, Madrid, Spain and Jerry Hunter, Bend, Ore. It took 12 minutes and 10 seconds to end the affair.

In a one-fall event the two losers, Alvarez and Hunter returned to the ring and after a hectic 30 minutes of everything from hair pulling to upper-cut to the jaw, it went to a draw.

The next event the two winners O'Connor and Lee went into the ring to battle for the one fall. After 20 minutes and 20 seconds, Miss Lee was disqualified for unnecessary "roughness" and Miss O'Connor declared the winner.

Next Thursday, a four-man wrestle royal will be held with the two winners teaming against the two losers in an Australian team tag match, for the best two falls out of three, 90-minute limit.

Jerry Hunter and Rose Marie Alvarez will return to settle their differences.

Symphony Will Present Kneisel As Monday Soloist

The Sedalia Symphony Society will present Frank Kneisel, violinist, as concert artist on the second program of the season Monday, Dec. 10, at 8:15 in the Smith-Cotton auditorium. Under the baton of Abe Rosenthal, conductor, Mr. Kneisel will play the "Concerto in E Minor" by Mendelssohn, accompanied by the orchestra ensemble.

Mr. Rosenthal has had one rehearsal with Mr. Kneisel, who played the solo part last Monday evening at dress rehearsal. There will be a special, called rehearsal for Sunday afternoon, Dec. 9, at the high school music room to rehearse this part of the program.

Mr. Rosenthal, a violinist himself, is well-acquainted with this "Concerto in E Minor" and is giving brilliant and sympathetic support to Mr. Kneisel in the presentation of one of the finest of all violin compositions.

The other violin solo numbers on the program will be: Beethoven's "Romance," the two Kreisler numbers, "Liebesleid" and "Liedchen in Chinois," the Szymanowski "La Fontaine d'Arethuse," and that magnificent violin exposition of Spanish music, the Zigeunerweisen by Sarasate.

The presentation will be free, and all persons interested are cordially invited to attend.

3 State Area Produces More Food For U. S.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(P)—Despite a decline in the farm population in Kansas, Oklahoma and Missouri during the last 10 years, the area is producing more food, the Census bureau said today.

This is because of improved and expanded mechanization of farms, it added.

Several factors combined to cause the drop in farm population in the three states, which followed the national trend. For the nation, the farm dweller figures dropped from 30,216,188 in 1940 to 23,577,000 in 1950.

Oklahoma lost 373,702 farm dwellers, according to Census bureau reports—from 926,741 in 1940 to 553,039 in 1950.

Missouri showed a decline of 236,600—from 1,118,600 to 882,000 while Kansas had a decrease of 161,039—from 604,778 to 443,739.

Among factors contributing to the decline, a Census bureau official told a reporter, were:

1. Many youths who left the farm to go into military service during World War II remained in cities to work when the war ended and others who took defense jobs stayed on in peacetime skilled jobs later.

2. Mechanization of farms has permitted production with fewer people and consolidation of some farms.

3. Some places formerly counted as farms are listed as rural non-farms—country homes where the occupants work in cities and drive to and from work.

Taft Sees Fed Government In All Welfare

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6.—(P)—Sen. Taft of Ohio says the federal government is threatening to "take over all welfare services through a scheme known as social insurance."

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, made the charge at a meeting of the American Medical association last night. The session also was addressed by Sen. Byrd of Virginia, a Democrat who often opposes administration policies.

Taft told the doctors they are justified in opposing this trend "because the key move of the socialists today is the effort to set up a federal system of socialized medicine."

Taft, incidentally, told a news conference earlier that he will not file in the California presidential primary election. California Governor Earl Warren already has announced his candidacy.

Taft said, "I desire not to become involved in any political questions while I am here (to address the doctors). I shall not file in any political primary in California nor sponsor directly or indirectly any slate of candidates in California."

Byrd warned that "if America is destroyed it will be the result of fiscal irresponsibility of which the present administration is guilty, and which even now is being exploited by political camp followers who would centralize all power and purse control in Washington."

He attacked "the creeping socialism and the scandals which Thomas Jefferson foresaw when he said, 'I do verily believe that a consolidated government would become the most corrupt government on earth.'"

Byrd earlier predicted the Democratic South may withhold its electoral college votes if President Truman is re-nominated.

The senator, long a foe of Truman, said that withholding of the South's electoral votes could throw a close election into the House of Representatives for selection of a president.

Death Rate Drops

The rapid increase is attributed, instead, to a considerably decreased death rate and to sharply curtailed emigration which previously carried away much of the surplus.

Emigration from Italy skyrocketed from 1900 to a peak averaging 800,000 a year just before the first world war. After the second world war emigration was down to about a year.

It still is considerably less than Italy denies that her 400,000 a year increase in population comes from an unusually high birth rate, as is often supposed. The government has issued statistics to show that Italy's birth rate is below that in France. The low countries, and many other parts of Europe.

New Artificial Respiration Method Adopted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6.—(P)—A new method of artificial respiration is due to get widespread use soon in the United States.

It is the "push-pull" system, already well known in Europe and said to get about twice as much air into and out of the lungs as the standard "prone pressure" method now in standard use in the United States.

The "push-pull" system is officially known as the Holger Neilson method. It has been recommended by the National Research Council. The Defense Department said yesterday it will soon be taught to the armed forces. The U. S. Public Health Service, Bureau of Mines, Boy and Girl Scouts and YMCA's are among other agencies that will use it.

In the "push-pull" system, the operator kneels with the victim needing resuscitation lying face down with his head between the operator's knees. The victim's arms are folded, with the hands under the face. The operator presses on the victim's ribs, evacuating the lungs. Then he lifts and pulls the victim's folded arms upward and toward the operator, who sways backward, grasping the victim's arms above the elbows. That expands the chest, drawing air in, and completes a resuscitation cycle the operator tries to get through once every five seconds.

Interpreting The News

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

Associated Press News Analyst

Ten years ago today, in the space of a few minutes, the United States became a different nation.

Historically speaking, the change had really begun years before, as a result of the war with Spain, when the country acquired interests far beyond the America coasts and began to assert herself as a world power.

But what was happening then was far from being generally recognized by the peoples themselves. They had waited through the early years of one world war before they learned America's true interest in its outcome, and were doing the same thing again.

On December 6, 1941, high government officials and many other people were still well aware that a war vitally affecting the United States was being fought in Europe. The nation, in effect, was a non-belligerent partner of one side in that war. But the prevailing public desire was to avoid American entanglement and let the foreigners stew in their own juices.

Then, on a quiet Sunday morning, Japanese submarines appeared off Pearl Harbor. Planes wearing the red ball insignia of the empire of the Rising Sun blasted away the backbone of America's Pacific fleet.

The Rome-Berlin-Tokyo axis had committed its fatal mistake. America's tears washed the scales of isolation from her eyes. An outraged nation plunged into a war from which she would emerge the world's greatest power.

When the war was over there was a brief return of complacency, but world leadership had been established and its responsibilities could not be denied. Two great oceans had been reduced to narrow and unreliable rampsarts of defense.

The rest of the world was poor. America was rich. Richer, relatively and actually, than she knew. She was not to realize for several years the problems which this situation would produce.

But the fermentations of 200 years had reached a new point of climax. A manifest destiny, which had not been understood at all by the men who coined the phrase so many years before, was beginning to take concrete form.

The world has changed vastly in these ten years. The nations which that day became our sworn enemies are now becoming our partners and, perhaps, our friends. A new enemy force threatens the world.

And the name of Pearl Harbor has become a generic phrase to describe something which the new America does not intend to have happen again—anywhere.

Defense Contracts Could Ease Trouble

Overpopulated Italy Seeks Way To Solve Unemployment

ROME, Dec. 6.—(P)—Italy has not yet found a answer to the problem posed by 2,000,000 unemployed, a population increasing by 400,000 every year and emigration now averaging less than 200,000 yearly.

There are two major proposals: 1—Increase emigration, which actually means raising the low fixed rate on Italian immigration into the United States.

2—Try to absorb the surplus population by putting it to work in expanded industrial production for the mutual benefit of the Atlantic pact nations.

The emphasis is on the second point because, although bills proposing greater Italian immigration into the U. S. are before Congress, leaders here about the increase would be enough to make much real difference.

Labor Her Prime Asset

Italy repeatedly has emphasized to her Atlantic pact allies she can offer to the alliance the tremendous labor potential needed for greatly expanded defense production.

She figures that of her 46,000,000 population, more than 21,000,000 are presently available for active labor—and millions more could be diverted.
